NATIONWIDE GAS RATION PLAN URGED

Baruch Committee Would Fix Top Speed Throughout U. S. at 35 Miles Per Hour.

GIVES REPORT TO FDR

Would Limit Annual Driving Per Car to 5,000 Miles of Necessary Motoring.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Roosevelt said today he would put into effect "as rapidly as arrangements can be made" a set of recommendations from his special rubber committee which included nationwide gasoline rationing and drastic restrictions on civilian motoring.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—A special rubber committee set up by President Roosevelt proposed today nationwide rationing of gasoline and drastic restrictions on civilian operation of automobiles.

The committee submitted its report to the chief executive with a blunt declaration that there was no middle court in solving the nation's rubber problem, that it was "discomfort or defeat"

In addition to recommending an expansion of the present synthetic rubber production program from an annual total now of 705,000 tons to a contemplated figure of 1,100,000 the committee proposed these additional steps:

1 That no speed above 35 miles an hour be permitted for passenger cars and trucks, so as to prolong the life of tires by nearly 40 per cent.

2. That the average annual mileage per car be held to approximately 5,000 miles, and this to be permitted only for "necessary driving."

3 That more rubber be released to the public through recapping old tires, or the issuance of new ones, so as to maintain fully necessary civilian driving.

4. That a new gasoline rationing system be devised to save tires, based on 5,000 miles

PAY BOOSTED

British Tommies To Get About 70 Cents More Per Week.

LONDON —(AP)— Sir Stafford Cripps announced increases today in the basic pay of British armed forces at an annual cost of £43,000,000 ($172,000,000) after the house of commons had heard the lament of an anonymous Tommy Atkins over his scale as compared with that in the United States army.

The pay increase will be about 70 cents a week for all men in the armed services below commissioned ranks and about 45 cents for women, Cripps said.

The government also boosted about 20 cents a week the allowances for each of the soldiers' minor dependents. The first child now received about $1.70 a week

LIGHTS OUT

Niagara Illumination Doused—Maybe for Duration.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. —(U.P.)—Illumination of Niagara and Horseshoe Falls was discontinued last night for the remainder of the season. Niagara frontier parks commission officials said the lighting may be banned for the war's duration.

The lights were ordered turned off last fall by Canadian government officials, but were put on again this spring for the tourist trade.

PROBING RIOT

Army Authorities Investigate After Soldiers Wreck Night Club.

WARWICK, R. I.—(U.P.)—Army authorities today investigated a riot in which 100 soldiers wrecked the Cabana night club, smashing furniture, dishes, mirrors and windows.

According to police, the trouble resulted from an argument last week between a soldier and a waiter. The ejected soldier promised to come back and square accounts and last night he appeared with five comrades and did it.

Destroyer Races to Save 1,600 on Flaming Ship

BUILDS $50,000 PLANT ADDITION

Hughes-Keenan Company, 100 Per Cent in War Work, To Double Capacity.

The Hughes-Keenan company, one of Mansfield's smaller industries and one of the first in the city to convert to war production, today announced an expansion program which will include the construction of a $50,000 plant addition and the employment of a much larger force of workers this fall.

Work has been started on an addition 90 by 180 feet in size which will double the present capacity of the plant, according to William E. Post, vice president and general manager of the firm.

The addition will be a one-story structure over most of its area and it will connect the plant's two old buildings. A small area at the front will have

Ashland Youth, 20, Stricken at Work; Cause 'Mystery'

Mystery today surrounded the death of a 20-year-old Ashland youth who was stricken late yesterday while working at his machine in the Simmons Manufacturing company in Ashland.

Company officials reported that the youth, Lewis J Faddis, 20, dropped dead while at his machine but that there had been no information received as to the cause of his death.

According to the report by the company there were no marks on the youth's body to indicate how he met death.

Acting Coroner W. S. Emery said he "knew nothing about the case" although he had been summoned. He refused to make any statement except that he was "investigating."

Company officials said that it had not been determined whether the youth had died of heart trouble, electrocution or through some other cause.

Faddis was born in Ashland county Sept. 17, 1921 and had lived in this vicinity most of his life. He was a graduate of Ashland high school.

Survivors are his widow, Donna Maxine; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy J. Faddis; a son, Lewis D. J. Faddis, and a brother, LeRoy Faddis, all of Ashland.

Funeral services will be conducted Saturday at 2 p. m. at the Denbow-Baer Funeral home with Rev. F. L. Hicks of the Methodist church officiating assisted by Rev. G. B. Wetherbee of Canton, former Ashland United Brethren pastor. Burial will be in Ashland cemetery.

STILL BUSY

Tire, Wheel Thieves Jack Up Cars in Parking Lots.

The thieves were busy in two industrial parking lots yesterday while workers were inside the factories

They relieved two cars of a wheel and tire and stole a tire from a third car, police reports showed. In the cases where they stole both wheel and tire the thieves jacked up the cars.

Harry LeClaire, Lincoln Heights, lost a wheel and tire at the Martin Steel Products parking lot, where Tony Carmel, 365 Grace street, also lost a tire M D. McKinstry of Marion had his wheel and tire stolen from the Tappan Stove company lot.

STILL STEEPER TAXES STUDIED

Persons Earning $2,000 To $4,000 Would Pay 25 Per Cent.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Further increases in individual income taxes were reported under consideration by the senate finance committee today as it worked against time to complete action on the new revenue bill this week

Chairman George (D, Ga.) told reporters the committee might readjust individual income tax rates in the lower brackets in view of its adoption of the 5 per cent "victory" levy against all earnings above $624 a year.

He said, however, that this might involve "flattening out" the surtax brackets above the very lowest income classes. Other members interpreted this as meaning an increase in the rates paid by persons with net incomes or around $2,000 a year and up.

As the bill now stands, the

LAUNCH NEW OFFENSIVE IN SOLOMONS

U. S. Planes Bomb, Strafe Jap Installations on Gizo Island.

DESTROY FLYING BOAT

Blow Indicates Americans Have Consolidated Their Positions.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — A new American offensive to drive the Japanese out of the Solomons islands apparently was under way today — launched by an aerial assault on enemy troops and installations at Gizo island.

With the U. S.-captured base on Guadalcanal, 215 miles to the southeast, evidently the springboard for the attack, American air forces bombed and strafed the small, heavily wooded island, the navy department announced last night.

The attack was carried out last Sunday without enemy resistance, the navy said, as the marines continued to mop up Japanese units which had fled to Guadalcanal jungles at the first American landing more than a month ago.

These Japanese detachments, the navy added, may have been reinforced by a few troops which managed to land on the island under cover of darkness.

The navy communique also reported destruction of a large Japanese four-engined flying boat by a naval patrol plane northeast of the Solomons on Sept. 5. The loss boosted to 123 the number of Japanese planes destroyed in the Solomons so far.

Chief significance of the American blow at Gizo was regarded as indication of a new phase of offensive activity in the strategic Pacific islands and evidence that the American forces had consoli-

Japs Nearing Port Moresby

The above map shows how Japanese jungle fighters have broken through the wild Owen Stanley mountain pass in New Guinea to drive within 44 air miles of Port Moresby vital Allied base only 325 miles from the northeast tip of Australia. Dispatches today said the Japs had accomplished their advance by outflanking the Australians but the Aussies were battling fiercely to stem the drive.

Charges Japs Backed India Congress Move

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—Prime Minister Churchill charged today that widespread Japanese fifth column activity may have been behind the All-India Congress party's drive for immediate independence, but he told the house of commons that the course of events in India had been improving "and is, on the whole, reassuring."

The prime minister's review of the Indian situation laid special emphasis on the turbulent events of the past two months and their bearing on the United Nations' war effort.

Churchill rejected a proposal for a vote to show whether the house approved his statement but suggested that full-dress debate with a vote might be arranged later.

He minimized the influence of the congress, which he accused of discarding Mohandas K. Gandhi's non-violence principles, and declared that 90,000,000 Moslems were "fundamentally opposed" to it—to which a member cried "nonsense."

As a measure of the congress' influence, Churchill mentioned that more than 1,000,000 Indians have volunteered for war service and that 40,000 volunteers in the past two months made an enlistment record.

When he finished, Emanuel Shinwell, a chronic Laborite critic of the government, told the house

APPEALS AGAIN FOR FIRE AIDS

Chief Says 125 Volunteers Needed To Man Auxiliary Fire Department.

An urgent call for recruits for Mansfield's undermanned auxiliary firemen's organization was sent out today by Fire Chief Charles Seeburger who said that "if the people of Mansfield want adequate fire protection in the case of an emergency they will have to volunteer for it."

On the response will depend whether or not the city will be entitled to obtain additional fire equipment, Seeburger pointed out, since the amount of equipment that can be obtained under priority ratings depends upon the size of the fire-fighting force.

"We can use 125 men," the fire chief said, "and so far we've only enrolled 18 or 20. He said that men between the ages of 18 and 50 were eligible to enroll and asked that they do so by next Tuesday so that classes could start at that time.

First aid classes and auxiliary training classes will be held twice a week, Tuesday and Friday nights, Seeburger said and the course will continue for 10 weeks until the 20-hour training period in each subject is completed.

Axis Torpedoes Get U. S. and Polish Merchant Ships.

(By Associated Press)

The torpedoing of two more ships—an American merchantman and a Polish cargo carrier, both attacked off the South American coast—as reported by the navy today brought to 461 the Associated Press count of announced western Atlantic sinkings since America's entry into the war.

The captains of both ships were taken prisoner aboard the raiders, the navy disclosed, boosting to nine the number of merchant ship commanders reported held by Axis subs following destruction of their craft.

CHURCHILL ASKS LONGER SESSION

Introduces Bill to Prolong Life of Present Parliament.

LONDON —(AP)— Prime Minister Churchill told the house of commons that a bill to prolong the life of the present parliament would be presented today.

It will be the third time parliament has been asked to extend its own life in order to avoid a wartime election Similar acts were passed in 1940 and 1941.

In reply to a question whether he or Clement Attlee would answer questions relating to casualties at Dieppe, Churchill said "I am not contemplating any immediate absence."

REDS STIFFEN RESISTANCE ON 2 FRONTS

Halt Foe Before Stalingrad as Storms Presage Winter Approach.

SMASH 73 DIVISIONS

Counter-Attack Enemy Near Novorossisk, Killing 1,000 Germans.

(By Associated Press)

MOSCOW — Cold rains swept the Stalingrad battlefields today and Red army defenses stiffened again after repeated German power drives had overrun two more villages west of the city.

A similar dramatic revival of Soviet resistance—even a counter-attack which cost the Germans more than 1,000 killed and destruction of nine tanks—was reported from the Novorossisk front, where the invaders had wedged dangerously into defense positions.

Front line developments of the day were coupled with an official declaration that 73 Axis divisions had been broken and routed by the Red army from May 1 through August.

The rains ended a heat wave which had attended the battle of Stalingrad and presaged the approach of wintry conditions which might hamper Hitler's huge mechanized forces.

But Field Marshal Fedor von Bock obviously was maneuvering in an effort to obtain a quick knockout. New German forces were concentrated west of Stalingrad. Red Star, the Soviet military newspaper, said one of his wedges was threatened by a flanking blow.

Field dispatches said Russian withdrawals had been orderly. Izvestia reported that the soldiers, "fully conscious of the danger hanging over Stalingrad, are defending every inch of their dear land."

From sunup to sundown the Russians fought beneath waves of German bombers, attacking in formations of six to eight.

Ability of the German command to replace worn veterans with reserves permitted unceasing pressure aground.

Russian infantry, mortarmen and machine-gun crews left more than 550 German and Rumanian dead strewed upon the sector west of Stalingrad in repulsing a series of attacks, the mid-day communique reported.

"Southwest of Stalingrad," it

Jap Prisoners Six Months, They Got 'Break'

By ESTHER SMITH

The determined efforts of 350 interned American, British and Dutch nationals "to get along with each other" in spite of the way they were thrown together, with little or no privacy, during the six months they were interned in Bangkok by the Japanese drew praise yesterday from the second pair of American missionaries to reach Mansfield since arrival in the United States on the diplomatic exchange ship Gripsholm.

"Sometimes living in such close quarters got on our nerves," said Rev. C. Newton Elder, Presbyterian missionary to Thailand 16 years. "But," he added, "we all tried to make the best of it for although we were under strict rules we were not treated unkindly."

Rev. and Mrs Elder, the latter a native Mansfielder sent out by the Mansfield First Presbyterian church, are here for a short visit with Mrs. Elder's mother, Mrs. B. L. Fernyak, 216 Vennum avenue, before going to Carrollton to reside this winter. Their two children, Eloise, 14, and John, 6, who were with them in Bangkok, started to school this week at Carrollton. Another son, George, 15, has lived with an aunt there, Mrs. George Kean, for four years.

The internment camp, Rev. Elder explained, was located in the University of Moral and Political Sciences. There the nationals were crowded into two buildings and a part of a third on the three-acre campus.

Unless it was an urgent matter, the internees were not permitted to go outside the board and barbed wire fence that enclosed the camp.

"Once Mrs. Elder was allowed to go to the hospital and on another occasion I was permitted to return to our home in Bangkok for some household equipment to use at the camp," said Rev. Elder. "The Japanese permitted internees to bring their own mattresses and mosquito netting to camp."

When Rev. Elder found that his home had been confiscated by Japanese and that "the only furnishings that remained were the heavy pieces of furniture. These were to be sold at auction."

At the time the Elders left their home to move to the Ameri-

JAPS EXPERTLY TRAINED FOR JUNGLE FIGHT

Writer Says They Live Off Land and Paint Selves To Match Surroundings.

By PAT ROBINSON

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA — (INS) — The diabolical cunning of the Japanese soldier has been enhanced by years of training for jungle warfare, and the results are seen in the bitter fighting now going on on this island.

The Nipponese fighters actually live off the land and are not burdened with heavy bulky supplies. Their rations are three cups of rice and vitamin tablets. This they are supposed to supplement by what the land offers—fruit, coconuts and wild animals.

The Japanese sniper shaves his head and then paints his skull, face and torso green so that he can blend into invisibility against the jungle background. He is a master at stalking through the dense jungles.

These special jungle troops have hooks fastened on the inside of their boots—like a telephone lineman—so that they can climb trees for concealment and sniping.

Many of them carry flamethrowers, fed by three tanks strapped to their backs. These wicked devices will throw a flame at least 100 feet.

The Japanese jungle fighters also carry hand grenades, wicked looking knives, and some have small two-inch mortars attached to a leg. They are, to put it briefly, well-armed.

One of the favorite Japanese tricks is to lure you into woods where an ambush of snipers are hidden in the trees. Another is to lie flat until the foe passes and then rise and shoot him in the back.

The terrain around Kokoda and Myola, where the Japanese are pressing toward the gap in the Owen Stanley mountains, is the wildest and most difficult in the world. The mountains are so steep that you can climb only by clinging to trees and vines that line the precipitous slopes.

The ground is treacherously slippery and greasy with decayed vegetation.

Every Japanese carries a bar of soap of a brand which had great advertised favor with American film celebrities.

Among a recent haul of prisoners was one young Nipponese who attended Louisiana state university.

I don't want to give the impression that the Japanese have the best of it out here. The Australians have had a lot of experience in jungle fighting. They are tough and know their way around.

Then the Allied airforce has been more than a headache for the enemy with its constant straffing and bombing. The jungle is so thick that you would imagine fliers could not see the enemy.

They can't see them, but they know where they are.

August Parking Meter Receipts Total $3,556.89

August parking meter receipts increased sharply, according to a report today by the office of City Auditor Paul L. Kelley, in certifications to Service Director Fred B. Wolff.

Collections totaled $3,556.89, the Richland Trust company, auditing agent, reported. In July the total was $3,420.18.

The month's collection included $1,859.24 in pennies; $1,682.45 in nickels and $15.20 in dimes. There were 374 slugs counted. It is generally assumed that practically all the slugs are used by inspectors.

The year's total for seven months is $34,277.82. The daily average for August was $136.80 with a daily average per meter of 32½ cents.

RAINS COME TO AID OF SOVIETS AT STALINGRAD

Nazis Checked By Russians In Heavy Fighting at Novorossisk.

said, "our troops repulsed attacks by the enemy and inflicted heavy losses. In one sector alone eight German tanks were destroyed and about a company of enemy infantry was wiped out."

Russian troops were reported crowding lethally at the heels of Germans turned back in the Mozdok area of the central Caucasus, wiping out more than a regiment of infantry and 53 German tanks in three days of fighting.

Several new German crossings of the Terek river in the Mozdok region were reported destroyed and all dispatches mentioned strong Soviet air power there. Nazi survivors were declared driven back to the river's edge in some places.

Red Star said the Russians used encirclement tactics and "battled for the complete extermination of the remnants of the enemy landing groups."

Two companies of Soviet Alpine troops trapped a group of Germans advancing through a valley and mowed them down with machine-guns and automatic rifles, the newspaper reported.

Gains were recorded also west of Moscow.

"In one sector of the central front our units killed more than 300 German officers and men," it was announced. "Our artillery barrage destroyed five blockhouses, nine dugouts and an observation post, disabled three German tanks and silenced five mortar batteries and one artillery battery."

Pravda said that at Novorossisk the Germans made a new attempt to land infantry from the sea behind Russian lines but were beaten off with the loss of four cutters and two torpedoboats.

Russian troops exhausted and deafened after fighting off Stuka bombers, massed tanks and infantry for 48 hours withdrew yesterday from two settlements in the western arc of Stalingrad's heavily hammered defenses.

(The settlements were not identified, but they apparently were among suburban villages clustered along the Stalingrad-Donskaya railway and Sarena creel for eight miles from the western limits of the Volga river industrial center. A Berlin broadcast declared that a Nazi vanguard had driven to the city itself.)

Reds Bomb Germany And Budapest

LONDON —(AP)— The Russian air force kept the allied aerial offensive in Europe rolling last night by bombing eastern Germany and the Hungarian capital of Budapest during a lull in RAF operations — presumably caused by unfavorable weather in the west.

The Soviet attacks were announced by the Berlin radio which —in characteristic fashion—described them as "nuisance raids" and minimized their effectiveness

Subsequently both the German and Italian radios broadcast dispatches from Budapest attributing the raids on Budapest to "English planes" and reported there were a number of civilian casualties.

The only overnight activity attributed to the RAF by the British air ministry was a bombing attack on a German convoy off the Dutch coast, which a communique said had resulted in one ship, the largest of the convoy, being set afire.

Report Berlin Hit By Small Air Raid

LONDON —(INS)— Berlin was bombed last night, the Swedish newspaper Svenska Dagbladet said today, according to Reuters news agency.

The Svenska Dagbladet asserted the German capital was subjected to a "small-scale" raid, presumably carried out by Russian aircraft.

Battle Small Axis Tank Units in Egypt

CAIRO —(AP)— British mobile columns and artillery engaged small parties of Axis tanks yesterday in the southern sector of the Egyptian desert front west of El Himeimat. British headquarters announced today.

Activity Tuesday night was reported limited to general patrol work and artillery exchanges in the northern and central sectors

"Air activity over the battle area was on a reduced scale," the British communique said, "although our light bombers scored hits on lorries on the Sidi Barrani-Matruh road."

Long-range British fighters shot a Messerschmitt 109 into the Mediterranean and Malta fliers downed two Axis fighters over Sicily, it was announced.

Nazis Claim More Advances in Russia

BERLIN — (From German Broadcasts) —(AP)— The capture of more heights southeast of Novorossisk and of bitterly-defended positions in the Soviet defenses of Stalingrad was reported today by the German high command.

It said its troops took the Novorossisk heights in operations which penetrated an aera fortified by pillboxes, and reported that German artillery sank five Russian transports off the Black Sea coast.

On the Terek River front where the Germans are driving toward the Grozny oil fields, a communique said a Russian counterattack was beaten off and Russian artillery positions were overrun.

"The enemy, with strong infantry and tank troops, resumed his attacks in the Rzhev area," the communique said. "All the enemy attacks, however, were frustrated."

CHARGES JAPS STIRRED INDIA

Churchill Tells Commons Foe Backed Drive of Congress Party.

that Churchill's statement would profoundly disappoint and shock millions of people."

The prime minister said the principles of the government's declaration — basically, dominion status—which formed the basis of Sir Stafford Cripps' mission to India "must be taken as representing the settled policy" of Britain.

He told questioners later, however, that he had no information to indicate any Indian tendency to accept the once-rejected Cripps proposals and added that "in the present state of affairs in India, with invasion not far off, these constitutional solutions and agreements are very difficult to come to."

He declared the Congress party, Hindu organization which was influential in the rejection of Cripps' proposal of dominion status for India after the war in return for increased aid in the Allied war effort, does not represent all India

"Mohandas Gandhi and his followers will be kept out of harm's way until the troubles subside," the prime minister said.

"Large reinforcements have reached India and the number of white soldiers now in India is larger than at any time in the British connection," Churchill said.

He said the government intended to give all the necessary support to the viceroy and executive "in firm but temperature measures by which they are protecting the life of Indian communities and leaving the Indian and British armies free to defend the soil of India from the Japanese."

Less than 500 persons have been killed in India since the disturbances started a month ago, he said

"The situation in India at this moment gives no occasion for undue despondency or alarm," Churchill continued

The prime minister spoke after L. S. Amery, secretary of state for India, told questioners in commons that "there is no room for negotiations in the circumstances which Mr. Gandhi has described as open rebellion."

Hit Biggest Ship In Enemy Convoy

LONDON—(INS)—A direct hit on the largest ship of an enemy convoy and probably on other vessels were registered by Netherlands naval and Canadian Demon squadron planes in a joint raid on Axis shipping off the Netherlands coast last night, it was announced today.

One pilot said that he saw "an unusually brilliant flash" amidships of the largest vessel and other pilots reported a furious fire there.

All the aircraft returned safely.

Allies Hear Rommel 'Ill' in Berlin

CAIRO — (INS) — Allied military circles today considered the possibility that Field Marshal Gen. Erwin Rommel, their desert foe, has been removed from command of the Axis forces in the Middle East.

Reports reaching the Allied lines indicated that Rommel has been summoned back to Berlin.

The Nazi field marshal was said to be ill.

German prisoners, captured in the Axis' offensive last week, were quoted as saying that Rommel's illness partly is due to nervous strain and overexertion imposed upon him by the loss of his right-hand aide, General Von Bismarck

Military sources here wondered, however, if Rommel's "illness" is fictitious. Many were inclined to believe that his return to Berlin will be at the request of higher authority and that it will mean Chancellor Hitler has decided to delegate the desert divisions to another leader.

Held Prisoner Six Months, Mansfielders Got 'Break'

can legation, when war was declared, they were permitted only to take what each could carry in a suit case outside of mattresses and bed netting. Once inside the legation, along with 50 other Americans, they were not allowed to return home for further belongings. Two weeks later they were transferred to the internment camp.

"Families were permitted to remain together at the camp," said Rev. Elder, "and married couples were each given an eight by 12-foot cubicle for their own use. If they had more than one child, as we did, they were given an extra cubicle for the children."

As the partitions between the cubicle did not extend to the ceiling and were only made of a thin substance it was impossible for families to have much privacy.

But if life in camp was not private it at least was organized A "Camp General Committee" was effected for the general welfare of the group shortly after internment, according to Rev Elder, who served as secretary of the committee.

This group, composed of five British, four Americans and three Dutch members of the colony, looked after sanitation, saw to it that recreational and educational activities were promoted and sustained and consistently pursued the caterers in the interests of better food.

"The food was edible," Rev. Elder said, "although the grown-ups had to supplement the breakfasts served to them by food obtained from the outside. The children fared better in the morning than the adults for while the latter had to be content with two pieces of bread and a cup of coffee the children were given milk, in limited amounts, cereal and eggs"

"The other two meals were more substantial," the missionary continued. "Twice a day we had chicken, fish or beef and we always had sweet potatoes and a vegetable. Beans, egg plant and bean sprouts were also on the menu but we had no fruit at the camp."

All food was cooked at the Rajadhani hotel and brought to the camp by truck. It was served by a corps of volunteer waiters set up by the "Camp General Committee."

Rev. Elder said he had no complaint to make about the conditions at the camp. The worst part about the whole six months internment in his opinion was the "uncertainty of being released."

"We first got an inkling of our impending release from the Swiss Council on Good Friday," he said. "But it was not until the fourth time that we were told, that we were actually instructed to pack our belongings."

On June 29 the Americans, 91 of them, were taken from the camp in trucks to the wharf at Bangkok where they boarded a Thailand boat for Saigon. They were convoyed by a Thailand destroyer to Saigon where they were transferred to the Japanese vessel, Asama Maru, July 3.

"There were 930 passengers on the Asama Maru," said Rev. Elder, "and the best accommodations were given to the women and children. Ambassador Grew had insisted upon that"

The returned missionary frequently mentioned the fine service rendered by the American ambassador to his interned countrymen and also that of W. R. Peck, American minister in Thailand "who did a great deal for the Americans there"

The Asama Maru transferred her passengers to the Gripsholm the end of July and the Elders landed in New Jersey just 16 years to the month that they had sailed for Thailand the first time.

Both missionaries hope to return to Thailand after the war and in the meantime believe that in "our effort of winning the war we must not lose sight of the part we are to play in winning the peace that is to follow." Although Mrs. Elder represents the local Presbyterian church her husband served in Thailand under a Presbyterian charge in Missouri.

FINISHES CHECK

Election Board Passes on Judicial Petitions.

The Richland county election board today had completed checking 933 signatures on nominating petitions circulated in the county for three candidates for the Ohio supreme court, ruling out 64 of the signatures as illegal.

Petitions in behalf of the candidacy of Judge Charles S. Bell of Cincinnati contained 628 signatures, 20 of which were ruled out by the board. Two of the 75 signatures on petitions for T. J. Duffy were declared illegal, and 32 were found illegal on petitions for Judge Guy B. Findley of Elyria whose petitions contained 230 names.

The three candidates are seeking the post formerly held by the late Judge Gilbert Bettman who died after the primary ballots had been printed

Signatures obtained outside the county, those written in pencil, and signatures of non-registered voters were ruled illegal by the board.

PLANT BOMBED

Explosion Follows Protest Over Hiring Non-Union Labor.

CLEVELAND —(AP)— A bomb explosion early today wrecked the front of the Boyd E Hart company about 24 hours after a similar blast damaged Hart's East Cleveland home

Courtney D Ward, secretary of the painters district council, asserted yesterday that Hart had 22 non-union painters working at the Cleveland Tractor company and asked several hundred AFL machinists to stage a protest walkout at the suburban Euclid plant, busy with war orders a second story which will house the company offices. The building will be constructed on a "saw-tooth" design, the top resembling the teeth in a saw. It is being built of brick and wood by P. J. Zeiher, Mansfield contractor. Charles Conklin is the architect.

Completion date for the addition is Dec. 1, and Post said the firm's employment and output will be stepped up immediately when the structure is ready. The plant now employs approximately 120 workers. Post said the number will be increased considerably, but he added that the exact number of new workers would not be announced until later.

The plant has been working 100 per cent on war materials for several months, manufacturing cranes for the government services.

Because of the nature of the Hughes-Keenan company's domestic production, the plant experienced less delay in converting its facilities to war work than others in the city

Post said the majority of the company's employes have authorized the deduction of a part of their pay checks for the purchase of war bonds and stamps. He said the plan had been in effect in the plant for the past six months and it was the firm's objective "to have every employe buy stamps and bonds voluntarily."

dated their positions in the southeastern Solomons.

Until the Gizo attack the troops in the Guadalcanal-Tulagi area were mainly on the defensive against Japanese and air attacks while strengthening their positions and presumably building a bomber base on the Guadalcanal airfield.

Also regarded as significant was the fact that Gizo is situated more than halfway on the road to the Japanese-held point of Kieta on Bougainville island, southeast of the enemy's big Solomon base at Buka.

Japs Drive Close To Port Moresby

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Australia—(AP)—By a series of outflanking movements, Japanese troops have fought their way across the summit of the rugged Owen Stanley mountains in New Guinea and are pushing down the southern slopes within 44 miles airline of Port Moresby, General MacArthur's headquarters announced today.

Australian forces, the announcement said, are battling gallantly to halt the enemy advance along a narrow trail traversing a series of ridges which still lie between the invaders and their goal.

The fighting is proceeding under conditions of "extraordinary hardship and difficulty," the bulletin added.

Allied air units were said to be playing an important role in the battle, bombing and machine-gunning the Japanese continually.

There was no official indication of the size of the forces which the Japanese had thrown into the offensive, but it was evident they were employing seasoned jungle fighters.

The announcement said the invaders had successfully outflanked Australian positions at Myola on the north side of the mountain range, pushed through a pass and again outflanked defenses at Efogi on the southern side of the summit, 12 miles nearer Port Moresby.

The invaders thus have traversed approximately 16 miles since they launched their push from Kokoda several days ago and now are considerably more than halfway across the 120-mile wide arm of southeastern New Guinea.

Port Moresby itself lies only 325 miles from the northeast tip of Australia and is regarded as a vital link in the defense of this continent. Should it fall to the Japanese they would be in possession of an important base from which to bomb Australia and a potential jumping off place for an invasion attempt.

There was no mention of operations at Milne bay, 235 miles from Port Moresby at the southeast tip of New Guinea, where Allied troops were said yesterday to have wiped out 700 Japanese troops, practically eliminating the enemy there.

25 Jap Warships Sunk in 5 Months

MELBOURNE — (AP) — Allied forces have definitely sunk 25 Japanese warships and transports and destroyed 300 enemy planes and perhaps 500 in less than five months, a review of Australian war zone communiques from Gen. MacArthur's headquarters disclosed today.

Forty-one additional warships and transports were damaged, and a total of 177 enemy planes severely damaged or "probably damaged," making the aerial toll 477.

The real total on enemy airplanes, it was believed, probably exceeds 500 since on many occasions bombs were dropped on parked aircraft with no means of determining the exact results.

Of the 300 aircraft definitely reported 202 were fighters, 60 bombers, 11 float planes, seven flying boats, and 11 were of unspecified types. They were destroyed either in combat, by anti-aircraft fire or by bombing of enemy air bases.

Allied plane losses for the same period cannot be given with any degree of accuracy because many of the early communiques issued by the Southwest Pacific command, beginning April 21, did not give them. The highest Allied loss given in a single operation was four planes.

URGE NATIONAL GAS RATIONING

a year of driving per car.

5. That "the restrictions as to gasoline and mileage be national in their application."

6. That compulsory periodic tire inspections be instituted.

7. That a voluntary tire conservation program be put into effect pending establishment of gas rationing, which the committee said was "the only way of saving rubber."

The committee, appointed on Aug. 6, consisted of Bernard M. Baruch, who was chairman of the War Industries Board in the last war; Dr. James B. Conant, president of Harvard university, and Dr. Karl F. Compton, president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Mr. Roosevelt had asked that the survey include facts on existing supplies, estimates of future needs, and the best method to be followed for obtaining an adequate supply of rubber for military and essential civilian requirements.

He requested a recommendation for action to produce the synthetic rubber needed for these purposes with a minimum interference with the production of other war weapons

Similar rallies will be held at the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company plant at 2:10 p. m. and at the Ohio Brass company at 2:40 p. m. Employes from plants near the Mansfield Tire and Ohio Brass are being urged to attend these meetings.

The movie stars will give short talks in which they will urge participation in the 10 per cent deduction system. Hout and Mayor W. J. Locke will also appear on the programs. Music for all three industrial rallies will be furnished by the Local 711 UERW band.

Hout also reported that the sale of tickets for the victory luncheon, being directed by James Eberly, is progressing.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1942.

This war will probably be long. It will be the toughest, hardest, most merciless war we have ever fought. It calls for the united power of every American, in uniform and out of uniform, on the firing line and on the production line. The price we will pay to redeem the future of mankind will be the highest ever paid. I have no doubt of America's decision. We have mighty enemies, but we can beat them. We did it once. We will do it again.—(Admiral Wm. D. Leahy)

Motion Picture Bond Selling Drive

MANSFIELD motion picture theaters are doing their part in the concentrated drive by the whole motion picture industry—producers, film stars, promotion men and 18,000 theaters—to sell a billion dollars worth of war savings bonds in September, designated as "Salute-To-Our-Heroes Month."

The industry is well equipped for such a campaign, with showmanship, ingenuity and methods of reaching a large public with impressive demonstrations of reasons why everybody should buy war savings bonds.

Mansfield will have an exhibition of novelty in bond selling next Tuesday when three well known movie stars will be here to boost sales, one feature being a luncheon at which admission requirement will be the purchase of a $100 war bond.

Recognizing the appeal of the spectacular, an effort is being made to introduce something novel into each month's bond selling and the motion picture industry is to be commended for its fine co-operation this month.

There is the thought, however, that it may not be possible to continue making such spectacular appeals month after month, and that these should not be necessary after Americans are thoroughly awakened to the urgent need of buying bonds and stamps regularly and to the extent of ability.

The money now being derived from sale of war bonds and stamps is an essential part of war financing—and this is also an investment which will increase in value until maturity ten years after purchase.

It should take no more than realization of what defeat would mean to this country to influence everyone to invest not less than 10 per cent of earnings or income in war bonds—and to buy them regularly.

General Pershing Anniversary Near

FEW CAN BE watching the war with keener interest or greater knowledge than General Pershing, who on Sunday, September 13 will celebrate his 82nd birthday anniversary. That fact itself is surprising, for of all people General Pershing seems least like an old man. Erect and grim, he has seemed to the country the image of soldierly vigor and quite the opposite of old age.

He came naturally by his appointment to lead the A.E.F. A veteran of Philippine warfare and an official observer of the Russo-Japanese war, he was, because of merit, promoted by Theodore Roosevelt over 862 senior officers. In 1916 he led the Mexican expedition against the bandit Villa, and soon after succeeded Funston as commander along the whole Mexican border.

As American leader in Europe, Pershing stood unswervingly for two things: enmity to politics in war, and the establishment of a separate United States force, not incorporated with the English and French armies. From Cantigny and Chateau-Thierry to St. Mihiel and the Argonne, the victorious American progress attested his driving power and skill.

The first full general since Sheridan, Pershing deserved the honors heaped upon him. He is identified in history with a well-fought campaign that ended in complete victory. Had the wise counsel of General Pershing prevailed after the 1918 Armistice was signed there is at least strong possibility that rearmament of Germany to the extent of precipitating the present world holocaust could have been prevented.

Falling Planes Bring New Danger

CRASH of an army bomber in down-town Newark Tuesday, with resultant death of two Newark women, in addition to the six army men who were aboard the plane, centers attention on a new form of civilian risk that is at least indirectly associated with the war.

While chances that such a tragedy as the one which occurred in Newark will be re-enacted elsewhere are remote, the frequency with which plane disasters have been occurring in various parts of the country argues strongly against unnecessary flying over cities, either for exhibition or travel purposes.

Dangers involved in both civilian and military flying are recognized, and accepted as unavoidable, but there should be no needless extension of peril to persons on the ground.

It is also noted, in connection with the Newark accident, that the civilian defense corps of that city was in readiness for immediate action and gave valuable assistance to the police and fire departments.

Congressman May Pops Off Again

WARNING against loose talking does not seem to have had any effect on Congressman Andrew J. May, of Kentucky, whose latest pop-off is to the effect that men with dependent wives and children will not be drafted for another 18 months and "possibly not at all."

It was Congressman May who predicted, several weeks ago, that the war would end "probably" this year and "unquestionably" by next year, and, because he is chairman of the house military affairs committee, there are naturally some people who think he knows what he is talking about.

The fact is, however, that neither Congressman May nor anyone else knows when this war will end—or how, and that these who are best informed, including President Roosevelt, are of the opinion that it will be "a long, hard war."

Meanwhile everybody is entitled to personal views on the subject, including ideas as to what the United States, Great Britain, Russia, China and the other United Nations should do to shorten hostilities and assure victory. But decisions seem more safely entrusted to military experts than to layman judgment.

Along which line the Cleveland Press commends the slogan: "Oh Lord, make me keep my big mouth shut until I know what I'm talking about."

Small Loan Firms Lag, But Wait

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON—These are hard times for the nation's small loan concerns—the kind that advance funds, generally at pretty stiff interest rates, to folk on moderate incomes but very dependable ones, in order to guarantee that they will be good pay.

Time was when, if you needed a few greenbacks to tide you over an emergency, you had to hustle around in every direction to find a small loan agent who was willing to trust you.

Now, though, such establishments simply fight for borrowers. They advertise. They send you invitations, urging you to drop in and get some dough. Some of them mail out promissory notes, drafted in advance, with nothing for the recipient to do but sign on the dotted line and the cashier will fork over gladly.

Explanation Asked.

This thing, starting in recently, of being literally persecuted to borrow somebody's money, was a new experience to me and I wrote a little column on the subject. The result I got was a call from the representative of a prominent loan company to ask me to explain myself. When I had done so, he furnished me with an explanation, in turn. He agreed that certain companies are overly intensive in their solicitation methods. Yet he pointed out that wartime employment is so rampant that the small loan agencies' business has gone all to smash.

The public is not buying normally, either. It has almost wholly suspended its investments in modest little homes and autos, formerly paid for largely out of small loans.

Naturally, the loaners felt the pinch.

Ah, but wait until next year's installments of tax payments begin to fall due! And from then on, into indefinite futurity!

It won't be money to buy a new car or house and lot that a would-be purchaser will need to borrow money for. He will borrow to pay for what he has obligated for already, after satisfying the revenue collector.

Congressional tax discussion has been prophetic along this line.

Uncle Sam knows how many billions he must have. The total is cut up into a multiplicty of items.

The legislators provide for some one of them. "But heck!" says some financial expert. "It's an obvious impossibility to raise so much from that particular source."

Upon consideration, it is agreed. A cut is made.

Thereupon, the question immediately arises, "Where is the amount of that cut to be superimposed?—upon some other item?" Otherwise the total is reduced and Uncle Sam cannot stand that.

One Place Or Another.

In other words, if you don't get fully stuck on some one item, you get correspondingly additionally stuck on some other one. It is a net result, either way.

The taxpayer who has not got a partially-paid-for car or piece of real estate is in luck. If he has, he must ask himself, "Shall I keep up on real estate or my car, or be a tax delinquent?" He is in the soup either way.

There is a puzzle relative to the status between corporations and individuals.

You might regard a corporation as a hoggish aggregation that ought to be socked up to the limit —90 per cent or so.

Only, it develops upon investigation, little pewees own most of the stock. The big bugs boss them, but by a minority. It is cohesive, though. The midgets don't combine.

Yet it is a novel situation.

Who would have expected the loan business to turn democratic?

And it will be more so, too.

Listen World!

Food Wardens? Nix!

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

SO THIS is war. Well, we might as well get a laugh out of it.

Have you heard of the newest national notion—FEMALE FOOD WARDENS?

Yes, you heard me right the first time. I don't know whether it's official yet but they are actually considering it in the sacred precincts of our legislative halls. Wouldn't you know a bunch of men would cotton to a cock-eyed idea like that?

Female Food Wardens. Dames with a federal sanction to come snooping into your home and pantry and see what food you have and whether you cook it per specifications. And we have trouble enough already. Just let them start that new wrinkle and see what happens.

Not, mind you, that we American housekeepers don't need a few tips on nutrition. We most certainly do. Taking 'em, by and large, the average American family is about as poorly fed as any tribe on earth, considering the abundant resources at its command. Fried round-steak and potatoes, peas and a slab of pie is as foul an insult as one could well offer the human innards. And yet that is a typical American evening meal. And we should be very ashamed of the fact.

Yes, I realize you have to hurry if you want to get to the movies on time. Or the nearest juke joint. But it might be well to consider that you're also hurrying yourself into a gastric ulcer and a swell funeral if you insist on consuming meals like that.

It takes no more time to prepare a well-balanced meal, however simple, than it does to toss together an accumulation of coffin nails. Even if Mom is working on a defense job, she can still prepare a boiled dinner the night before. So I've no kick against those who criticize our slapdash American menus.

But will female food wardens cure the problem?

They will not!

They will simply be an incitement to homicide.

There is far too much of this snooping paternalism in our present scheme of things. America began as a self-starting nation. Some of the starting wasn't so good. It ended in awful flops. We've paid a terrific price for our freedom and initiative. But imperfect as they are, they've been worth it. We weren't so good but we could be worse. And the divine urge to be better still burns within us.

That's the all important thing we're fighting for—the very basis of liberty, the right to learn by living, the right to make our own mistakes as well as our own successes. And that goes for scorched steak as well as it does for slavery.

And so now we're going to have Female Food Wardens to tell us how to cook real chow instead of the trash we now eat. Maybe. Which, says I, is as great an infringement of the American Bill of Rights as any screwball program that was ever conceived. And I hereby warn you that I personally am prepared for them. Let any such dame try and invade my pantry and I'll throw her out on her ear.

Note of Greater Certainty Marks Speeches of United Nations Chiefs

—By DE WITT MACKENZIE

THOSE war speeches by President Roosevelt and British Prime Minister Churchill served as encouraging notice that the United Nations are verging on military maturity.

Both declarations displayed a tone of certainty that could only be based on achievements which, although they lag far short of what they ought to be, still are leading surely to victory. Facts warranting such calculation aren't hard to find, for these points stand out clearly:

(1). American war production has reached a point where its tremendous weight is making itself felt. Its momentum is increasing steadily, for we are nowhere near our peak. Movements of our troops and equipment abroad pyramids. By implication President Roosevelt let it be known that more than half a million Yankee troops already have been sent overseas.

(2). July, August and thus far in September we've vastly reduced the depredations of the U-boats in the western Atlantic.

(3). We not only have been holding the Japs, but have assumed the initiative with splendid success in several sectors.

(4). The blockade of Europe still holds tight—one of the greatest of the Allied assets—and the Axis strength is on the downgrade, due to lack of resources of all kinds.

(5). Intensification of the American and British bombing of Germany is raising havoc with Hitler's factories and transport. There's no question now about Allied superiority in the air over Europe.

(6). Thus far Hitler has failed to reach the objectives of his mammoth assault on the Caucasus and Middle East. He has achieved much, but still that magnificent Red line remains unbroken, although it has had to pull back and it has sagged.

With the fall rains already falling, every day that the Bolshevists keep Hitler out of his Garden of Eden brings nearer the hell of winter which soon will clamp down on the unhappy armies of the man who would be tyrant over the world.

And it's almost axiomatic that if the fuehrer doesn't get his hands on the resources, and the strategic bases, of the Caucasus and Middle East this fall, his hide surely will be nailed on the old barn door. His waning resources won't permit him to duplicate this great offensive again come another spring.

ALL THIS gives the Allies something concrete to go on with. So what next?

Well, it means that we must swing definitely into the offensive. And both President Roosevelt and Premier Churchill promised action.

From now on it must be bullets and not words. Announcement of our intentions to asume the offensive undoubtedly was calculated to give further assurance to Russia. Churchill's report to commons seemed to make it clear that one of his chief reasons for visiting Stalin in Moscow recently was to convince the Communist chief that his Allies do mean business.

Churchill's description of his meeting with this "man of massive and strong personality, suitable to the stormy times in which he has lived," gives the impression that Stalin, "a man direct and even blunt in speech," definitely had felt that the Allies could have done much more than they had. Apparently Churchill and his host had a real heart-to-heart talk. It would have been interesting to listen in, for Stalin has a habit of stripping all skeletons of trimmings and getting down to the rattling bones, while Churchill himself is about as outspoken as you find 'em. Anyway, the British premier says:

"I believe I made him feel we are good and faithful comrades in this war, but that deeds and not words will prove that."

Man About Manhattan

Profitable Ice

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — "The difference between New York shows that go on tour after a successful Broadway run, and an ice show of the Sonja Henie variety, is that the ice show backtracks to Broadway. Instead of winding up in St. Louis with the original Broadway cast, we wind up our ice show in Madison Square Garden with the original Omaha, Neb., cast. That's where we started last year, and it's where we'll probably begin this season."

The man doing the talking was big, six-foot-four Arthur Wirtz, who, with two gentlemen from Chicago named Norris and a lady from Long Island named Sonia Henie, own and operate Sonart Producing Company, which, already, has successfully sponsored and promoted seven Sonja Henie Ice Spectacles, plus the New York extravaganza at the Center theater which is known as "Stars on Ice," successor to the equally successful "It Happens on Ice."

WIRTZ may be said to be the man who actually discovered ice, in the broad show sense. Since 1935 he has organized ice spectacles, in conjunction with Miss Sonja, throughout the United States and in Hollywood.

Mr. Wirtz's troubles and Miss Henie's troubles have been largely solved for this season. This means that the cast for their eighth show has been set and that worries as to the draft and to transportation have pretty well been solved. Next year—that's something else. "We were lucky because the people, in our show are so young," explained Wirtz. "Next year—well, they will be getting older, and the Army probably will get them."

The biggest week in show business (for Miss Henie) was not in New York, whatever you may have concluded. It was in Chicago at the great Chicago stadium, owned by Wirtz and associates, and in 11 performances Miss Sonja drew $341,000. Her largest week in New York, at the Garden, which meant only eight performances, was slightly over $300,000.

THE new Henie show, which is as yet unnamed, will get underway in about two months. As usual, Catherine Littlefield will build the ballet numbers, Bruno Maine will do the settings, and William Burke wil serve as Wirtz's right hand man.

Wirtz, who lives in Chicago and commutes to his New York office, is a blue-eyed, poker-playing, hockey-loving University of Michigan graduate who turned to real estate and remodeling during the depths of the depression to earn a necessary penny. Today he is part owner of the Detroit Red Wings and of two minor league teams in Indianapolis and Omaha.

I could understand his fascination for the glamour shows on ice skates as emphasized by the ex-Norwegian snow flake who won ten titles before she came to America, but I asked him how he got his liking for hockey. For an ice man, his answer was what might have been expected.

"It's on ice, isn't it."

How It Started

Design.

It is said that women's styles change, but their designs remain the same.

It is a nice distinction and one, which, when you go into it, is not without a difference.

"Style," of course, is passing, but indelibly stamped into the development of "design" is permanency.

"Design" is from the Latin designare to mark out.

Originally, "design" was simply a preliminary plan or idea, in connection with a remote object.

With usage, the word acquired particularly — attributes of purpose, intention, concentration.

Slowly but inevitably "design" gravitated and flowered into its modern definition of scheme, plot and realization of conception.

Timely Editorial

Milkweed Is Recognized.

Scientists' skill finally has furnished an answer to a question often asked by the barefoot farm boy of 50 years ago—Why isn't something useful made of the milkweed- Up at Petoskey, the agelong, gratuitous offering of the milkweed is being accepted and the first commercial harvest of milkweed pods is about to begin.

As everyone who ever had a garden knows, the sturdy, tall plant which has a white juice that is more like melted rubber than milk, is called a weed because it is so persistent in trying to be nice. It seems to plead: "Keep me for my beautiful flowers; they are as fragrant as any in the garden! Use the silvery fiber in my pods; it is as fine as silk! And you need rubber; try my sap!"

Well, at last the Milweed Floss corporation, of America is going to make floss from milkweed fiber and it will be used to replace kapok and vegetable wool in making aviators' jackets. Necessity once more is the mother of invention.—Detroit News.

A Farmer's Diary

Book Review

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

A BALD-HEADED farmer with big ears took the platform at our grange to review, in his own words, the book by ex-President Hoover and Diplomat Hugh Gibson, "Problems of Lasting Peace."

"Because we were all unprepared for this war," he said, "is no reason we should get caught again, as we did last time, with no workable plans for peace—when we have won! We'll have to win the war first—of course—and then our big chance will come. If the common folks of America think ahead and plan right, they can mold the world. They can make the motto, "In God We Trust," mean more than it ever has meant to every nation, the world around. Besides, the very fact that we have a plan for peace will make us fight the harder.

"Mr. Roosevelt has said that we seek 'freedom of speech, freedom of worship, freedom from want, freedom from fear, everywhere in the world.' To be peaceable, a man or a nation must be willing to live peaceably. We'll have to teach our enemies what representative government means, and then stand behind their efforts until they learn the ropes. The governments of the world will have to act as guardians of the nations that are poor and weak and hungry. They'll have to see to it that shipping starts and supplies are distributed. No man can be real peaceable on an empty stomach.

"To be free, men must choose their callings, provide for their families and mind their own businesses, so long as each does not injure his fellow men. When governments become hagglers for land and goods, each trying to outdo the other, wars are the natural consequence. Private trading can leave the political element out. So, from the standpoint of making peace that'll last, the long view would restore international trade to free enterprise.

"There's plenty of everything in this world for everybody, if the nation'll band together to prevent hogging! There's plenty of living space if we'd shoo the homeless and unemployed into undeveloped countries. South America and Africa have homesites for unlimited numbers — and airplanes'll make it easy to reach there, very soon.

"The way to live peaceably is to let each family run its own house, and have policemen to protect the whole street. We oughta give the Germans an incentive for abandoning their old ways and becoming a peaceful nation. Nations cannot be held in chains. We must give the decent elements in people a chance to cooperate in the work of peace. We must educate them by setting the right example.

"Let's not try to do everything at once. Let's win — by force, since we must, and they've asked for it. Then let's disarm, at once, except for policing; establish temporary boundaries, relieve famine, and establish international commissions to study our mutual problems. Let's get international trade to moving, for everybody's good. When our heads have cooled, we can do a better job of establishing world machinery for preserving and teaching peace.

"The world is changing faster than we know. New shapes and forms of nations are emerging. Much good will come out of the struggle, when the smoke has cleared away. But let us, this time, found our peace upon a rock. Let's think, now!

"For if we are as unprepared for victory as we were for war, even victory can be disaster! Not how we win the war, but how we make the peace, will determine our future greatness."

Girls enrolled in the class are looking forward to continuing training both in a commercial way and as preliminary work for stewardess training. Five of the girls enrolled are juniors and two seniors.

C. Russell Williams, who took a special trainers course at Ohio State university this summer, is teaching the class which is open to students of three upper grades.

BUCYRUS—A group of Bucyrus relatives attended the wedding in Columbus, September 5 of Miss Margaret Burkholz and Lloyd E. Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Baker, 433 Hopley avenue. The nuptials took place in Martin Lutheran church.

Dale Baker of Gibbstown, N. J., brother of the groom, attended him as best man and another Bucyrian, Quenten Ackerman, now of Camp Custer, Mich., was a member of the wedding party as usher.

The couple will live in Columbus where Mr. Baker is employed at the Curtiss-Wright corporation. He is a Bucyrus high school and Ohio State graduate.

BUCYRUS — Rural schools of Crawford county took a drop in enrollment this fall, County Supt. Glen C. West announced today. Enrollment during opening week a year ago was 2,088 as compared with 2,068 this year, West stated. Holmes-Liberty was high with 287 pupils enrolled.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

CHAPTER XXI

"He was to come over this morning," Marcia said. "I'd asked him for lunch—just the two of us—at my apartment. But he telephoned soon after breakfast that things were upset here and he couldn't come. He sounded so worried that I decided I'd come over. After all, I'm one of the family almost. And I've known how unhappy and mixed up things was. Was it something about Frani?"

Daphne stirred then and said something indistinctly in her sleep. Amy ran to her . . . If only she could tell Marcia that it was something about Frani and how it had all begun! She felt pretty sure now that Paul was staying away to avoid Marcia. Oh, what terrible fools people were, she thought.

Guy came home early that afternoon and went straight to his small daughter. He looked tired and worried, but he had a smile for Daphne. He picked up the doll, Elderberry, and saluted her gaily, "How's my granddaughter this evening?"

Daphne merely looked at him with saucer eyes and clung to Amy. Guy looked worried and hurt.

Then Paul burst in upon them. He had on his overcoat and the smell of the cold outdoors clung to him.

The damp and cold had curled his hair into tight rings, as Amy loved to see it. But he did not look at Amy.

"Where's Frani?" he asked b

"In her room, I suppose," Guy s... haven't seen her since noon."

"As I came through the gate just now I passed your station wagon going out," Paul said. "The light on the gate shone directly into it and I saw a pile of suitcases and, I think, two people. I couldn't tell you whether one was Frani."

Guy was on his feet now. "Are you sure? I'll look in her room."

He started toward the door, but a thin wail stopped him.

"Where's my mother?" Daphne cried. "Daddy, where's my mother?"

Guy was back at her side in an instant and his lips smiled though his eyes were grim. "She's gone to New York I guess. You know how Mother does sometimes. She takes a notion to start off to New York in a hurry. You know how Mother loves to do that."

"But why didn't she tell me good-bye? Why didn't she even tell me she was going?"

Guy actually managed a half laugh. "I guess she was sort of mad at me. Mother gets mad—just the way you do. Don't you know?"

She regarded him seriously. "Uhm hum, I know."

"And now you put Elderberry to bed while I go with Uncle Paul. I'll be back in a moment."

The two men left and Amy got out the toy trunk that held Elderberry's enormous wardrobe. Together she and Daphne undressed the doll and Amy pretended to take part in a detailed discussion as to which nightgown and negligee Elderberry should wear—as though she were not listening intensely every second for the men to come back. Then she realized that Daphne was listening too. The pathos of it struck her and she tried the harder.

Finally Guy came back and announced with exaggerated carelessness, "Yes, Mother's gone to New York. I remember now there was a play she wanted to see. Uncle Paul's going too—to be with her."

"Why is Uncle Paul going?"

"He wants to see the play too. He has to leave in half an hour and now he wants to see Tudor for a moment down in the study."

Tudor flew down the stairs, her heart pounding, into the study and straight into his arms. Paul was going away and a separation was a calamity.

"It's the best thing I can do," Paul comforted her. "Of course my motive is partly selfish. This gives me an excuse for clearing out immediately. I couldn't stay here and pretend with Marcia. It's ghastly! And you wouldn't want me to."

She shook her head vigorously against his shoulder.

"But I would go to Frani just now, anyway. She's done a terrible thing to me. But she's my sister. And I did sort of fail her the other day, I guess. Perhaps I'm more capable of understanding her than anyone else. She's pretty desperate, I think, being turned down by two men."

"Two men!"

"Yes. She babbled it all to me when she was drunk last night and I stayed with her. She imagined she was in love with Dr. Ames."

"He was in love with her," Amy put in quickly.

"Possibly. But he wouldn't have her. Even when Guy divorces her. He made that plain to her yesterday. He has strict ideas about divorce. Well, anyway, I'm going."

"But how'll you find her?"

"I know pretty well where Frani'll go. I could tell almost certainly what hotel in New York—"

"Perhaps then you ought to telegraph."

"If I did I'd never find her. As I told you she's rather desperate. But, look here, Amy, let's talk about us."

"There isn't much to say about us," she said smiling up at him with tear-bright eyes. "But perhaps while you're away—while we have this respite—we'll manage to figure something out. You won't enlist until you come back?"

"No, that'll have to wait," he said bitterly. "Everything has to wait. Even you! You look so little and so so and here I am, walking out on you."

"Nobody's walking out on anybody," Amy declared. "I'll be around somewhere when you get back. And if you hang around too long now you'll miss your train." She pushed him gently. "Good-bye, darling."

Amy had told Paul she'd be around somewhere when he got back. Well, she would. She had saved almost $140 since she'd come to Dillinghams. She would go back to Mrs. Walsh's rooming house and stay there until she found some sort of a job. There were jobs now with defense work accelerated.

She and Paul would find a way out. She couldn't imagine its happening otherwise. But she would have to stay at the Dillinghams over the next day at least. Now, with Frani gone, she would have to wait until the excitement had blown over before announcing her decision.

Then curiously the immediate decision was taken out of her hands.

"Tudor," Daphne called in that frightened voice she had used ever since she had seen her mother strike her father.

"Tudor," she wailed again. Amy switched off the study light and went upstairs to the nursery where Daphne lay in her gaily-decorated bed with Elderberry, the doll, beside her on the pillow, and a bright little fire flickering in the blue and white tile fireplace, and hundreds of dollars' worth of toys scattered about the room, and Nurse Bolton in attendance and the stalwart maid, Margaret, waiting on call in the hall outside.

"She acts scared," Margaret told Amy. "Her father had to go downstairs to do some telephoning. And she won't go to sleep."

"I can't go to sleep, Tudor," Daphne declared. "Please hold my hand, Tudor."

Amy sat by the bed and held the youngster's hand and watched the black eyelashes droop against the violet shadows under her eyes. Daphne's lashes were like her father's—short and thick and straight. They lifted suddenly now as Amy had loosened her grip on the small hand and it fell suddenly limp.

"You aren't going away are you Tudor?" Daphne asked. "You won't go while I'm asleep."

"No" Amy promised. "I won't leave you."

She drew a chair close to bed, settled herself more comfortably and soon fell asleep.

Guy Dillingham came in after midnight. He touched Amy's shoulder, but she did not stir, for she was sleeping the sleep of exhaustion. He shook her lightly. She sat up straight. With a lock of soft straight hair flung across her face she looked hardly older than Daphne.

He spoke to her as through she were Daphne's age. "Why, child, you mustn't sit here all night. You'll wear yourself out."

Amy got up, but she had been sitting on her foot so long it had gone to sleep and when she tried to walk it folded under her and she would have fallen if Guy hadn't caught her.

He steadied her for a second his hands on her arms; then, drawing her arm through his, he led her to her own door.

His touch was soothing. She had for the first time in a long while a feeling of not being alone, of being cared for. It was almost a happy sensation.

"Good night. And you must try to get some sleep," Guy said gently. "I'm sorry you've had to get so involved in the affairs of this family."

In the morning Guy asked whether he might talk with her in the study.

"It's about Daphne," he began. "But first there are other things I want to say."

He paused. Then he said quietly. "Frani and I have decided to separate."

She stared at him.

"We've agreed upon a divorce. It seems queer that I should be telling you this just now. But we—all of you—have been thrown into each other's lives, living in the same house. You saw how she what happened the other night. It's easier to tell you than it would be to talk to someone who hadn't seen it."

You Can't Equal The Taste Of "Patented Flavor" Bread

Women Quitting Old Kinds For It At The Rate Of 5,000 A Week Now!

Takes The Place Of Any White Bread Deficient In Natural Flavor, Vitamins And Minerals Because It Contains More Natural Flavor, Wheat Vitamins And Minerals

THERE is no other like it. That's the reason you cannot equal the taste of this amazing new "patented flavor" bread. Which has already taken the place of ordinary white bread in many thousands of American homes. For these two reasons:

1. Because it brings more of the rich, natural flavor of wheat full-ripened in the sun than white bread robbed of Nature's bounty. Thus, is better for taste.
2. Because it contains more natural vitamins and minerals of wheat now than ever before thought possible.

You can see the difference at once. Gone is the chalk-white look of the ordinary baker's bread. Instead, this new "patented flavor" kind has the color of the cream on the top of the bottle of milk.

A Remarkable Discovery

Everybody knows the trouble with ordinary white bread. Made from flour bled white in refining to make a whiter loaf. Then Theodore Earle patented his discovery (U. S Pat. Nos. 2143306, 2232697, 2155219, 2232696). And here is the secret of "patented flavor."

By removing the bad-tasting outer skin of the grain, you get this richer, better tasting loaf. A bread the color of cream; render in texture and crust. And with more natural vitamins and minerals.

To obtain this amazing new "patented flavor" loaf—ask your grocer for the new Wonder Bread. And see for yourself why women everywhere are quitting ordinary white bread for this new kind at the rate of over 5,000 a week now.

A Great Thrill

Most people are astonished and thrilled by their first taste of this new "patented flavor" Wonder Bread. Not the flat insipid flavor of the usual chalk-white kind. But refreshingly different! Like the taste of fresh fruit after canned. You'll say it's marvelous!

But discover how much better this new "patented flavor" Wonder Bread tastes. Mothers of growing children and wives of men who work should serve it instead of any ordinary vitamin-deficient kind.

Then, too, "patented flavor" Wonder Bread is doubly fresh—fresh when you buy it and fresh when you eat it. Because slo-baked for lasting freshness—baked 18% longer than many ordinary kinds.

See how much longer "patented flavor" Wonder Bread stays fresh in the bread box; how much longer sandwiches stay fresh in the lunch box.

Ask your grocer for the bread with "patented flavor"—the new Wonder Bread—today sure. You, too, will be surprised and thrilled with it.

THEATERS

Pulitzer Prize Story.

How wealth and power built up through three generations crashes into oblivion under the blows of the advancing machine age is depicted in the film adaptation of Booth Tarkington's "The Magnificent Ambersons," a Pulitzer prize story showing at the Ohio. Directed by Orson Welles the picture is topped by a cast that has Welles in the lead along with Dolores Costello, Joseph Cotton and Richard Bennett.

Light Romance.

Romance has its usual ups and downs in Shirley Temple's starring picture, "Miss Annie Rooney" at the Madison. Shirley plays the 14-year-old daughter of an insurance salesman who would rather promote billion-dollar ideas than work at his job. The latter almost queers the works when Shirley meets up with a socialite family but the daughter engineers his scheme to the best advantage. William Gargan plays the father and the cast includes Guy Kibbee. Dickie Moore and Roland Du Pree. "Fiesta," a technicolor production, is the second attraction.

Dramatic Story.

The thrilling story of a reporter who was framed on a murder charge when his crusades proved too dangerous is told in the Ritz attraction, "I Was Framed." Mansfield's Patty Hale plays the daughter of the reporter. Michael Ames, and Julie Bishop has the role of Patty's mother. Action of the picture takes place in a small town and the cast includes Hobart Bosworth and Regis Toomey. Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy are teamed in "I Married An Angel," the second production.

Murder Mystery.

Police ask a returned member of the R. C. A. F. to help them trap the killer in "The Strange Case of Dr. Rx," a murder mystery showing at the Park. Patric Knowles has the role of the flier and Lionel Atwill, Paul Cavanagh, Mona Barrie and Anne Gwynne are in the supporting cast. The plot revolves around a series of murders committed after the victims had first been acquitted in court. Tom Keene in "Arizona Roundup" is the second picture.

MILLERSBURG — Mrs. John Glauque, Millersburg, R. D. 2, was removed to her home Sunday from the Pomerene Memorial hospital, where she had been confined the past week.

ASHLAND MEN FINED IN COURT

ASHLAND — A. J. King, 64, of Ashland, was fined $100 and costs in police court here Wednesday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated. King made a left hand turn in his car on Cottage street striking an automobile driven by Ralph Houpt of Sandusky, the impact slightly injuring Mrs. Haupt who was riding with her husband. King's driving license was suspended for one year with permission granted to drive back and forth to work.

Louis Bendure, jr., of Ashland, was fined $25 and costs in police court Wednesday when found guilty of taking $10 from the cash register of the Cottage restaurant where Bendure was employed. Warrant for Bendure's arrest was signed by John Sherrick, owner of the restaurant.

FDR Bans Double Time Pay On Sundays

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

Miss Midnight's Notebook.

Manhattan Glitter: Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne strolling into the Stage Door Canteen for a bit of doughboy-cheering and dish-washing . . . Irene Dunne decorating the elevator at the Waldorf . . . Pat DiCicco looking ever so pretty in his uniform, dancing with the bride at El Storko . . . Bruce Cabot, at Fefe's Beach, wearing the same kind of moustache Clark Gable just shaved off . . . Ann Rutherford and Jane Froman, Bondolls for America, raising money for Uncle Sam in Times Squire . . . Harpo Marx, who proves that not only gentlemen prefer blonds . . . Claudia Morgan being oo'd and ah'd at in Sardi's—she has a new style nose.

Last Week Was the Week in Which: Gypsy Rose Lee and Alexander Kirkland astonished everyone by getting married . . . The Marines landed at the Rivoli in "Wake Island," and had the situation well in hand . . . The Victory Garden left Rockefeller Center, to be replaced by 1,500 red, white and blue asters . . . The WAACS were told they couldn't make pay allotments to their husbands . . . Bill Saroyan demonstrated spectacular magnanimity by telling Hollywood he'd sell his "Time of Your Life" for only $60,000. And don't think Hollywood isn't grateful . . . Jane Cowl appeared on the coast-to-coast war bond program and reminded a nation of dial-twisters what a great actress she is . . . A new selective service ukase was issued and a fellow in Lindy's made the comment of the week on the draft situation.

"Hey," he said, "did you see the papers? They're gonna take single men!"

The Owl Patrol: Lou Costello introduced a pair of platinum blonds around the late beat as "a couple of debutantes from the Montauk Highway" . . . Noel Toy's strip dance was censored when she entertained at the Stage Door Canteen, so she compromised—took off her coat only . . . Vincent Lopez and his new vocalist, Gerri Larsen, are pretty starry-eyed these eves . . . Marjorie Knapp, who has been 17 years old for five years, really celebrates her one and only authentic 18th birthday next month. "The Star and Garter" starlet always had to give her age as 17 to keep the Gerry Society away from the stage door.

A Stone's Throw From Broadway: David Cowles, Falstaffian proprietor of the tiny Penguin restaurant, proved his popularity with rival bistro-owners when he ran out of foodstuffs the other night. He just ran out like a small town neighbor and borrowed rolls from the Versailles, roast beef from Joe Madden, butter from the Stork, and chicken from the Monte Carlo . . . Terry Lawlor, the Irish thrush, has been gifted with a platinum shillelah encrusted with emeralds, a token from her best friend and least severe critic . . . Frankie Hyers is amusing 18 Club patrons with the story of the inebriate who fell asleep in the cornfield on the northeast corner of Sixth Avenue and 52nd street. When he woke up the next morning and saw the tall corn, he rubbed his eyes and asked a passerby:

"Say, buddy—how far is it to the nearest town?"

Jack Marshall and Willie Shore, the two new comics from Chicago, exchanging Windy City anecdotes at the Glass Hat . . . EARLY RETURNS SHOW TALMADGE BEATEN IN RACE

Georgia Governor Defeated By Candidate Who Hits School Interference.

ATLANTA, Ga. — (INS) — Gov. Eugene Talmadge, seeking his fourth term as governor of Georgia, was defeated by his youthful opponent, Attorney General Ellis Arnall, on the basis of incomplete returns today from yesterday's Democratic primary.

Talmadge, a picturesque, red-gallused veteran of 25 years in political life, had campaigned as a champion of "white supremacy."

Although the final count may shift a few county unit votes from one candidate to the other, Arnall appeared to have a sufficient margin to assure him of the nomination, which on the Democratic ticket in Georgia is tantamount to election.

Arnall was well ahead in the popular vote and also had captured a lead in the county unit vote, which will decide the election. For hours after the counting of votes, Arnall was behind in the county unit vote, although consistently building up a lead in the popular vote.

Then, as later returns were compiled today, Arnall, the "reform candidate," captured or took the lead in one county after another until he appeared to have victory in his grasp.

The state's county unit system of voting is similar to the operation of the national electoral college in the election of a president. The candidate who carries a given county receives all the county unit votes cast by that county. A total of 206 county unit votes is required to nominate.

Arnall charged throughout the campaign that Talmadge had interfered with the state's school system and particularly attacked the governor for forcing the resignation of members of the state university's faculty on the assertion that they favored co-education for the white and negro races.

U. S. Sen. Richard B. Russell apparently was headed for an overwhelming victory over former Rep. W. D. Upshaw, Prohibition advocate. Russell was running approximately 3 to 1 ahead in the popular vote.

Up and Down the Street

A little girl was unaware of the attention she attracted for a half hour this morning as she sat in a big cardboard box up to her neck and watched a mechanical shovel at work on a vacant lot at Park avenue east and Franklin avenue. Apparently heeding her mother's admonition to stay far enough away from the shovel so she wouldn't be hurt, she placed the box across the street, occasionally moving it for a better view of the operations. She must have thought that the box afforded her protection for she sat down in it until only her head showed.

The Y. W. C. The work will be carried on as one of the "I'd like to make" projects of the club, this season and the girls will be entirely in charge of the re-decorating program.

A former Mansfielder doing his part in speeding U. S. war production of planes for victory is William A. Bates, who has been elected vice president of the Brewster Aeronautical corporation. Bates, a brother of Vaughn and Earl E. Bates, of Mansfield, was formerly works manager of the Long Island division of the corporation. He is a graduate of Mansfield Senior high and has spent 25 years in the aviation industry. Bates was previously associated with the Glenn L. Martin company as production manager. Today's issue of the New York Times carried Bates' picture and an article telling of his election and of his contributions to the progress of aviation.

President Fails To Change Extra Pay For Overtime and 'Seventh Day.'

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt set the pace — and a precedent—for congress today in an executive order outlawing penalty double time payment for Sunday work, the first move on his Labor day pledge to stabilize wages.

Coming a scant two days after he called upon congress to control soaring farm prices by Oct. 1, the first of his promised anti-inflation orders makes universal a "no Sunday double time" pay practice already invoked by many unions.

It makes formal and binding the pledge given months ago by Presidents William Green of the AFL and Philip Murray of the CIO that such payments would be voided voluntarily by labor for the duration of the war.

The order permits double time payment for any individuals' "seventh consecutive day of work" to maintain efficiency through "one day of rest in seven." It does not disturb time and half payment for overtime work after 40 hours.

As the president took his first step on wages, members of the war labor board indicated that the board's "Little Steel" cost of living formula will be the basis for the chief executive's wage stabilization program.

Most drastic feature of the new program, they said, will be an extension of the formula — which ties wages to the 15 per cent living cost increase—to include all wage increases instead of merely disputed claims now controlled by the WLB.

For the congress, the president's order carried an implied expression of "good faith" from the White House—putting the chief executive into swift action on his share of his Monday ultimatum, even as the legislative branch struck its first delay in dealing with farm prices.

Despite the president's demand for speed, Senate Majority Leader Barkley announced following a conference with Price Administrator Leon Henderson, that the requested farm stabilization bill may not be ready for introduction before Monday. Speaker Rayburn and House Majority Leader McCormack a few hours earlier had promised they would do everything possible to expedite the legislation to bring farm prices below 110 per cent of parity.

The president's executive order provides that "no penalty overtime shall be paid for work on Sundays, Saturdays and holidays as such."

POWER HEADS GOP CAMPAIGN

Governor's Secretary Picked To Head Committee, Will Open Headquarters Soon.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS—A committee headed by Don C. Power, secretary to Governor Bricker, and officers of the Republican state and central committee, will manage the G. O. P. state campaign in the November election.

Ed D. Schorr, of Cincinnati, Hugh Huntington of Columbus, Nolan Boggs of Toledo, and Mrs. Katharine Kennedy Brown of Dayton, were named to the campaign committee by the central committee yesterday.

Schorr is president, Boggs secretary and Huntington treasurer of the state central committee. Mrs. Brown is Republican national committeewoman for Ohio and president of the Ohio Federation of Republican Women's Organizations.

An additional member of the campaign committee will be selected by other Republican candidates on the state ticket. Legislative candidates, judicial candidates and congressional candidates each will select a representative for their group to be present at campaign headquarters here.

Power said the headquarters probably will be opened within 10 days.

CONSERVATORY FORCED OFF AIR BY RULING OF PETRILLO UNION

(By Associated Press)

CINCINNATI — The Cincinnati Conservatory of Music, which claims to be America's oldest independent school devoted exclusively to music, is "off the air."

Manager George H. Klusmeyer announced that the school would not be able to start its ninth annual season of symphony programs over the Columbia network because its players were students and the American Federation of Musicians permitted only union musicians to broadcast. In eight years 220 broadcasts have been made.

The union, headed by James Caesar Petrillo, has been involved in several controversies with similar rulings against the Boston symphony orchestra, a soldiers' orchestra from the show, "This Is the Army," and the national high school music camp of Interlochen, Mich. The department of justice has filed an anti-trust suit against the union and Petrillo.

"Since it is necessary for our students x x x (play) the standard literature to x x x build up their repetoire for ultimate becoming professionals," Klusmeyer said in a statement, "and since the broadcasts have materially contributed to their education, it would seem that the union's national policy x x x will limit the scope of our educational activities: and x x x the education of students for the profession of music will be interferred with."

Local union officials, from whom Klusmeyer said he received the notification, were not available for comment.

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD — The phone rings. An excited feminine voice with a bewitching accent, high in anguish. . . .

"This is Marta Eggerth. We met at the studio. You were so nize to me and I am all alone here, I have no one to turn to. . . . These t'ings they say about my hus-bond, Jan Kiepura, they are not true. He is my hus-bond and I lovv him, and when they say these t'ings I die. . . . Would you, could you see him when he comes home so he can say his truth? Please, so kindly?" . . .

Coons

A lady in distress, by gum. So it was that one day I put on my battered knight's armor, seized my lance, took the tired old white nag from the stable and galloped to the Kiepura home—first assuring unhappy Marta that the sky will not fall in the interim.

But what do I find? The lady is all smiles again. Those "t'ings they say," of course, were the reports of the Chicago performance of "Carmen"—in which Kiepura's Don Jose tossed Gladys Swarthout's Carmen for a footlight loop. Marta, ex-Viennese, had read into the reports a questioning of her Jan's chivalry, but now she has stopped "dying." She is full of laughter even.

Before Jan came in, Marta gave me an illustrative performance of Carmen's third-act curtain: Don Jose spurning Carmen. "Jan," said Marta, "always pulls back his skirt—I mean shirt!—so that Carmen can stab him if she will. This time Miss Swarthout asked Jan to throw her away. She asked him to, you see?"

At coffee on the terrace Jan himself—stocky, big-chested, expansive, his Polish accent heavy—gave another spirited performance. He hurled an imaginary Carmen to imaginary footlights, with gestures. But on the whole, he was inclined to be magnanimous about the affair.

He would be willing to overlook that Swarthout on previous occasions had had stage accidents, and he, Kiepura, would be the last to suggest that Swarthout had an eye for headlines. All he, Kiepura, would say was that the publicity was worth at least $20,000—"and I wish she would give half of it to Polish relief!"

Then Jan left these trivialities behind to make a startling announcement. He was going into light opera, he said, because he could not persuade the schnopps of grand opera to his view that opera in America should be in English.

"Schnopps?" I puzzled.

"Schnopps," he explained. "Stuck-up."

"Snobs," Marta articulated carefully, adoring her hus-bond.

A DINNER MEETING at the First Presbyterian church last evening opened the 1942-43 season for the Mansfield Business and Professional Women's club. Fifty members were served at long, attractively decorated tables. The business session was opened by the club president, Miss Dorothy Landers, who challenged the members to do their best during the coming year.

Styles Say Sweaters Fill the Bill

Fashion points two ways this fall—and paradoxically enough, you'll want to head in both directions. One trail takes you along the straight and narrow path to simple, classic fashions that fit in with the ration-minded, duration-minded thinking of the times. The other road reminds us of our duty to beauty.

Because sweaters are a "best bet" to fill either bill so admirably, you'll want to play them across the board in planning your new fall wardrobe. You'll be glad to know that the leading knitwear designers have done some noble needlework to make our sweater pickin' a positive pleasure this season.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

I knew I had no business injecting a petty personal note into the tense situation precipitated by Mr. Milner's questions about Redfield, and I carefully avoided my father's eyes, which, I was sure, showed disapproval. But I was rewarded by seeing Mr. Milner's wary glance at Dicky's sinewy, athletic figure, then heard him change the question he had put to me.

"I really was hunting for you, sir," he told my father, "but in my anxiety put my question to Mrs. Graham. If you can tell me what I wish to know, I shall be most grateful."

"First," my father said with a grim smile," I must learn what your question is, then I can better determine my answer."

Threatened by Dicky.

"I must get hold of Stephen Redfield at once," he said, "and—"

"Do I understand?" Dicky demanded, taking a step toward him, "that you dared to bring a question like that to Mrs. Graham at this hour?"

"Never mind that now, Richard," my father said hastily, and with authority. "That can wait until later." He glanced ironically at the manager, who had involuntarily moved backward at Dicky's advance, but had halted at my father's interference, then said, "Just now, Mr. Milner, it suits me to answer your question."

He paused and looked at me, a gleam of amusement in his eyes.

"Please do not let this frighten you, Margaret," he said. "I saw no need of telling you about the incident before."

Answers Question.

"Stephen Redfield is in the suite next to this," he said. "He has met with an accident; not a serious one, but one which has rendered him unconscious for a little while."

"My God!" The ejaculation broke from the manager, but my father ignored it.

"Would you like to see him?" my father asked.

"Oh, yes, yes," Mr. Milner said feverishly.

"Richard, you will please stay here with Margaret," my father said, "and I shall bring Dr. Twitchell over to give her a sedative. It is not like you to scream even at a spider," he told me. "You evidently are extremely nervous."

I knew better than to make any objection, but Dicky voiced my thought as the door closed.

"I'd give a sixpence — also a farthing - to know what the Dad is up to," he said. "You gave that scream on purpose, didn't you?"

"Of course," I replied. "Father had told me to call him if I became frightened. I had no idea what he expected, but when Milner started toward my bedroom in search of Redfield, I thought it was time to signal you people."

"I'll bash his face in," Dicky said fiercely. "The second the Chief lets me out of leading strings. But all we can do now is to sit here and twiddle our thumbs until the curtain goes up on the next act."

We did not have long to wait. In less than five minutes my father and Dr. Twitchell came through the camouflaged door leading to the adjoining apartment, closing it carefully after them.

"My daughter doesn't need your services, Doctor," my father said in a low voice, "but you would better make a pretense of taking her pulse, so that if Milner should come back in here, the stage will be set properly."

Dr. Twitchell put his right hand upon my wrist, and held his wrist watch up where he could look at it. Hurriedly, in low tones, my father explained.

"There is no one in the other suite now except Milner, Adams and the unconscious Redfield. I asked Milner to excuse us while Dr. Twitchell looked at you.

"He thinks Adams is his own man and this will give him the opportunity for which I am sure he is looking. I trust I'm right, for if he acts as I think he will, I shall have the final proof against him."

FINDING A NEW CARD

DID YOU ever sort your cards hurriedly and carelessly, and therefore pass because you had not taken account of some honor you held? Once in a blue moon that might happen to anybody, and later, during the bidding, or perhaps not until during the play, you discover what you had done and feel as if you had found a new card. Suppose you locate it after your partner had made an opening bid? Your job then is to jump all the way to game if you can, as you can never ununiform him regarding your having no opening bid strength.

During the post-mortem, after West had made 4-Spades, losing only one trick in hearts and two in clubs, West asked his partner why he hadn't opened the bidding. The partners had agreed they would make an initial bid on any hand containing three high tricks if it had a four-card suit, and on two and a half if it held a five-card suit. East sutely had such a hand. He had passed because the spade K was mixed with his clubs, and he did not see it when he valued his cards.

He received a fortunate chance to make up for his slipshodness, when South opened with such a weak No Trump and West made such a weak overcall. East should have jumped directly to game over that, being sure that his partner had a five-card suit to overcall No Trump. You certainly cannot blame West for going no farther after East delivered a single raise to three on a hand that had been passed originally.

HOROSCOPE

FOR FRIDAY, SEPT. 11

Unusual excitement, commotion and high tension is predicted for this day, according to highly stimulated forces and faculties. It is probable that an event, unforeseen and unpredictable, but having far-reaching and dramatic effect on the life of its future fortunes, is at the root of the agitation and stress. It may not be profitable unless a decided restraint and poise are brought to bear on the emotions and energies. Rssh and impetuous moves might defeat the benefic auguries.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of sudden and thrilling events of a singular, surprising and unpredictable nature, arising like a "bolt from the blue" and having a decisive, upheaving and far-reaching effect upon the life and its destiny and fortune. It might possibly be romantic or dramatic, causing a sensational or exciting denouement and much confusion and agitation. The happy and fortuitous outcome may depend upon poise, calmness and logical behavior rather than impetuosity and reckless moves.

A child born on this day may have exceptional creative abilities, either in scientific, inventive or cultural lines.

RETIRED NURSE CHAMPS AT BIT FOR WAR DUTY

Veteran of World War 1 at 73 Volunteers For Active Duty.

(By United Press)

MILWAUKEE — Retired Red Cross Nurse Stella Mathews, 73, yearns to get back into harness like an overage fire horse when the alarm rings.

The veteran of the last war and post-war relief expeditions to Poland and Greece was in Honolulu when Pearl Harbor was bombed and she immediately volunteered for duty.

"But all they wanted of me was advice," she laughed. "They might as well have said 'you are too old.'"

So Nurse Mathews, holder of international nursing's highest honor, the Florence Nightingale medal, found herself standing aside and watching others take care of the wounded, the hungry and the homeless after the Japanese bombings. When authorities ordered evacuation of all non-essential civilians, she learned to her regret that was what she had become. Now, back in America, she is learning how to knit socks for soldiers.

Miss Mathews and her sister, Sarah, a teacher in a Honolulu high school, heard the attack on at Pearl Harbor, 10 miles away, on the morning of Dec. 7.

"But we thought nothing of it at first because we could always hear planes and guns," she said. "Finally, a friend phoned to announce that 'the Japs are here' We went out then and saw the planes.

"We did absolutely nothing the rest of the day," she said. "We were instructed by radio not to leave the house, not to use our phones or our cars"

Miss Mathews praised Honolulu's civilian defense preparations. She was impressed especially by the efficiency of the medical units.

"They were better organized then than most American cities are now, after four months of war," she said. "They did expect the Japanese, 'though not nearly so soon.'"

Miss Mathews experienced a month of nightly blackouts before she left for the United States.

"The Hawaiian blackouts were really complete," she said. "It was against the law even to smoke cigarets on the street after dark."

Nurse Mathews had served with the Red Cross since 1911, mostly in an administrative capacity. She was superintendent of the Milwaukee Children's hospital at the outbreak of the last war. Called to France, she was chief nurse at base hospital 22 at Gironde.

After the armistice she headed the American organization of Red Cross nurses in Poland, where she established the first Polish training schools for nurses. After three years there, she returned to Milwaukee but was sent almost at once to Greece to head a refugee relief expedition.

After that assignment, Miss Mathews became director of nursing service at Palama settlement, Hawaii. She retired in 1934, but came out of retirement a year later to organize the Honolulu nurses bureau.

In 1939, the Florence Nightingale award was sent to her in Hawaii. She holds a decoration from the Polish Red Cross, the United States Victory medal and is a chevalier of the Royal Order of George I for her work in Greece.

Naval Aircraft Ground Training School Opened

CHICAGO — (INS) — With the recent opening of the new navy mechanical school in Chicago, this city has become the center of the naval aircraft ground school training program.

The plant formerly was operated by the board of education as a technical high school. It cost $3,500,000.

The navy is constructing a $500,000 housing unit for the sailors.

Hundreds of bluejackets are arriving weekly at the center and soon there will be more than 4,000 attending classes, Lieut. Com. E. L. Carlson, officer in charge, said.

The school has four separate faculties. The chief purpose of the program is to train aviation maintenance men and civil service instructors, all of which will be sent to aviation maintenance training schools, air bases, shore stations and aircraft carriers following their graduations.

COMPANY BUYS BRIDGE

LYNN, Mass.—(U.P.)—The General Electric Co. went on a shopping tour recently and purchased an 88-foot bridge. The span, needed to connect new buildings at the company's works here, was transferred from New Market, N. H., in two days with the help of a truck and crane. A new bridge was impossible to construct at the plant because of material shortage,

STUDY COURSE IN SEA TERMS

Shipworkers Learn How To Talk Like Sailors Do.

CHICAGO, Ill.—(U.P.)—Landlubber industrial workers in this inland city are learning that the first step in building naval ships is not laying a keel but learning a language.

So workers at Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing Company plant here who are turning from the manufacture of sleeping cars and coaches for the nation's railroads to the building of anti-submarine patrol ships for the U. S. Navy are attending a formal course at the plant, the first lesson of which is devoted to an ancient lingo—the language of the sea.

Before they study the basic principles of shipbuilding they learn not to say left or right, front or back, up or down, wall, room, stairs, or floor. Instead they speak of port and starboard, fore and aft, above and below.

ARMY PROBING NEWARK CRASH

Five Fliers and Three Civilians Known Dead; Remains Hint Possible Other Victim.

(By United Press)

NEWARK—An army board of inquiry today began an investigation of the army bomber crash in downtown Newark which killed at least five fliers and three civilians, possibly more.

The investigation was begun shortly after Newark police announced that a thorough check of the wreckage had revealed that only eight, possibly nine, bodies had been found in the shattered ruins of a five-family apartment into which the big plane crashed.

Earlier, police said that nine bodies had been recovered. A Newark funeral home announced that 10 bodies had been extricated from the debris.

Police said that one body was "so badly mangled" that it was difficult to determine whether it was a portion of bodies already recovered or a separate one.

Bodies of the five fliers and one ground crew chief killed were returned to Wright Field. Two women civilians, Mrs. A. L. Weston, 62, and Mrs. Dollie Campbell, 73, also were killed when the ship ploughed through two houses setting them afire.

Two of the crewmen were killed when they leaped from the plane shortly before it crashed.

The twin-engined, low-wing plane was on a routine flight from Wright Field to Mitchel Field, N. Y., when suddenly it fell out of control into a residential section.

Sport Podge

by REX HESS

Stringin' one little thing after another for a column, or sweepin' up the kitchen for a little batch o' hash:

Mansfield's modest men made a modicum of Labor Day hay in sports contests out of town . . . and said nothing about it on their return. . . . At Galion, Gene Rudolph, champion of Woodland Tennis club, won the annual North Central Ohio championship . . . succeeding soldier Bob Keefe of Mansfield. . . . Rudolph beat Bill Allwine of Galion in the finals 6-3, 6-0 on his hard drives and brilliant placements. . . . Rudolph and Larson of Mansfield play in the doubles finals next Saturday.

And at Bucyrus, L. Reamy of Mansfield won the first trophy shoot of the Bucyrus Gun club since April . . . breaking 48 of 50 targets to lead a field of 60 shooters.

Chuck Byers, the old Mansfield Brave, pitched the pennant clincher for Charleston in the Mid-Atlantic league on Labor day . . . defeating Canton 9-2 and blanking the Terriers until the last inning . . . and Boss Alex Clowson of last year's Braves won a game for Camp Perry at Sandusky, breaking a 4-4 tie with a home run that started a last-inning three-run rally.

* * *

Mansfield's old-time baseball players are all set for a big time next Sunday when the Old Timers association holds its annual picnic at Spiker's Grove starting at 10 a. m. . . . Some may even try to play a little ball again . . . and all of them will talk a good game.

* * *

Lieut. Ben Schwartzwalder . . . coach of Canton McKinley last year . . . is helping train parachute troops at Fort Benning, Ga. . . . Mel Knowlton . . . former assistant mentor at Massillon and grid coach last year at Steubenville . . . has served in both army and navy in this war. . . . The draft caught him while he was awaiting action on enlistment in the navy . . . and acting as a corporal, he headed a squad of 16 inductees reporting at Ft. Hayes . . . while on 14 day furlough he received a commission in the navy . . . and had to apply for a discharge from the army. . . . And Mansfield's Ed Chatlain . . . ex-Wittenberg athletic star . . . served in the army air corps before joining the navy physical training setup.

Bup Rearick . . . Canton McKinley coach . . . doesn't quite know what to do with Earl Loucks, jr., the star fullback who transferred from Cuyahoga Falls . . . with Abe Aslanides second string quarterback, hitting the line harder than any Bulldog back . . . and making a serious bid for the fullback job . . . Brooks Lawrence . . . the needle-threading pass popper of the Springfield Wildcats . . . is tossing the oval in mid-season style . . . he was the outstanding star as the Blues defeated the Golds 21-13 in a practice game last Saturday.

* * *

And down at Portsmouth they're saying the Trojan line is the best high school forward wall seen in those parts in years . . . and years . . . looks like Mansfield's Tygers have a tough season ahead.

PHIL CATCHER SOLD TO PITTSBURGH BUCS

PHILADELPHIA —(INS)— Catcher Ben Warren donned the regalia of the Pittsburgh Pirates today and prepared to see action against his former teammates, the Phils, in a doubleheader at Shibe park.

The Phils sold the 30-year-old backstop to the Bucs at the waiver price of $7500. Warren, a right-hander, became the Phils' regular catcher in 1940 when he clouted the ball at a .246 clip in his major league debut.

Yankees Prepare Clincher

Can Win American Loop Title This Week-End.

By JUDSON BAILEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

THERE'S no need to be in a hurry, but the New York Yankees apparently are ready to clinch their sixth pennant in seven years this week-end.

Any combination of five victories by New York or five defeats for the Boston Red Sox will keep the Yanks on the throne and this little qualification could be attended to by Sunday—or before.

* * *

The Bombers blasted out an 8-3 triumph over the St. Louis Browns yesterday for their fifth straight success and 22th in 12 games. This put them ten full games in front of the Red Sox, who were idle.

If the Yanks add five more victories in a row the clincher would come next Sunday in Cleveland, according to the schedule, even if the Sox also win all their games in the meantime. Every game Boston loses, of course, means one less the Yankees must win.

The champions didn't act like they would need the help as they subdued the third place St. Louis club yesterday. In the first inning Joe Gordon hit a homer with the bases loaded, his 18th round-tripper and second grand slam of the season, and big Ernie Bonham held the Browns to eight safeties, in coasting to his 19th win.

The only other major league game that escaped the weather was a 13-inning night marathon which the Philadelphia Athletics wangled from the Cleveland Indians 5-4.

* * *

Phil Marchildon, pitching five no-hit innings in relief, gained credit for his 17th victory when the A's pushed across a run in the 13th on a walk, a single by Bob Johnson and a fly by Dick Siebert.

The idle day in the National league permitted the senior circuit to turn its full attention to the impending series between the Brooklyn Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals

Today the Cards have a date with the New York Giants and the Dodgers must take on the Chicago Cubs, but these ventures are merely warmups for the two games between the contenders at Brooklyn tomorrow and Saturday

Blues Defeat Columbus Club

Take First Play-Off Game By 4-1 Margin.

(By Associated Press)

The Kansas City Blues, forced to go to the very last day of the season to clinch the American Association pennant, are wasting little time getting the jump on their rivals in the Shaughnessy play-offs

* * *

Weather prevented second place Milwaukee and fourth place Toledo from opening their semi-final series last night but Kansas City got its inaugural out of the way by defeating Columbus, 4 to 1.

* * *

Each of the semi-final series is a best of seven game arrangement, with the winners meeting for the title and the right to play in the "little world series" against the International league play-off winner

Kansas City won last night behind the seven-hit pitching of Charley Wensloff. Ted Wilks started for Columbus and surrendered all the Kansas City runs and hits before going out for a pinch hitter in the seventh Bill Crouch did not allow a hit in his two inning relief role.

The play-offs continue tonight.

GRIDDERS DRILL

MADISON, Wis. —(INS)— Wisconsin's sick bay was swelled today with three more inmates as Coach Harry Stuhldreher drilled his Badger backfield for the opening game against Camp Grant. Those reporting sick were Fullback Bob Ray and Quarterback Bob Diercks, who have colds, and Elroy Hirsch, who has a charley horse. The injured Pat Harder is not expected to recover sufficiently for the opening game.

LOUIS PROMOTED TO RANK OF SERGEANT

FORT RILEY, Kans.—(U P)— It will be Sergeant, not Corporal Joe Louis who meets Pvt. Billy Conn for the world's heavyweight boxing championship on Oct. 12.

He was promoted by his troop commander, First Lieut. Max Radutzky, when he left on a 37-day furlough yesterday. Louis will start training immediately for the Conn fight. He is due back at the cavalry replacement training center on Oct. 16, four days after the bout.

Western Army Defeats Lions

Former Texas Aggies Attend to Scoring.

By WATSON SPOELSTRA

DETROIT —(AP)— The Western Army All-Stars have a couple of tough customers ahead in the Green Bay Packers and New York Giants, but Maj. Wallace Wade's soldier footballers will be hard to dislodge from their edge in the charity series against national pro league clubs.

* * *

The Army seized the upper hand in the series last night by employing every possible way football points can be scored to whip the Detroit Lions, 12 to 0, before 21,499 customers who paid an estimated $40,000, minus expenses, toward Army emergency relief. Having beaten the Chicago Cardinals after losing the opener to the Washington Redskins, the Army leads, two games to one.

* * *

Jarrin' John Kimbrough, former Texas Aggie All-American who had scored his team's previous three touchdowns, was held scoreless by the Lions, but two other Texans suh, carried on exceptionally well in his place. Bill Conatser speared a second period touchdown pass in a 52-yard play with Kay Eakin of Arkansas and the New York Giants, and Bill Dawson booted the extra point and a fourth period field goal from behind the 12-yard line.

Like Kimbrough, both Conatser and Dawson are former Texas Aggies

To round out the scoring, the Lions kicked in with a safety four minutes from the game's finish when Snapback ended Harry (Hippity) Hopp and rolled out of the end zone.

* * *

The soldiers will try to make it three successive victories to clinch the series by beating the packers at Milwaukee Sunday They will play the Giants at Syracuse, N Y, on Sept. 19. The Detroit receipts are expected to boost relief benefits to nearly $100,000 going into the last two games.

Gophers Aim At New Record

Shoot at Third Straight Undisputed Crown.

By DALE JOHNS

MINNEAPOLIS—(U P)—A new all-time Big Ten football record was the lofty ambition of Minnesota's grid squad today as it accelerated preparations for defense of its conference crown.

The Gophers, one of the great powers in the modern annals of the game, are shooting for their third consecutive undisputed league championship. The Big Ten was formed in 1896 and it is a tribute to the circuit's balance that no team has held the grid title outright longer than two years in a row. But records are made to be broken and Minnesota likely will take care of this mark during the 1942 campaign.

Bernie Bierman, the stoical genius who directed the Gophers to the championships in 1940 and 1941, is now a lieutenant colonel in the marines. In his place at the Minnesota helm is Dr. George Hauser.

* * *

Hauser was an assistant under Bierman and built the rugged lines that carried the Gophers to their lofty place in the national grid rankings In the main he'll carry on the system of his former boss.

Hauser inherited a veteran and talented squad. Of the 66 gridders who reported for the opening practice 24 were lettermen from the undefeated and untied combination of a season ago. Upon those veterans rest the main responsibility of a successful title defense.

Hauser is faced with the necessity of doing a bit of experimenting in his backfield, but the gamble isn't a long one The chief test being made is that of switching Vic Kulbitski from center to fullback. This change was made during the spring drills and has worked out satisfactorily. Kulbitski is a stocky 194 pound junior who possesses the plunging qualities that Minnesota demands of its fullbacks.

With Kulbitski filling the fullback need Hauser is able to go ahead with plans for running Bill Daley from the left halfback position Bruce Smith held last season. Daley, as a fullback, was the Gophers' leading ground gainer in both 1940 and 1941.

Herman Frickey, one of the conference's fastest men, will be at right half and heady Bill Garnaas at quarterback.

The first string line probably will be composed of six lettermen and one sophomore This forward wall would have Herb Hein and Bob Baumgartner at the ends; Captain Dick Wildung and Paul Mitchell at the tackles; Charley Dellago, the Sophomore, and Johnny Billman at the guards and Don Nolund at center.

TAKES COACHING JOB

BUCYRUS — Seraphim Pope, son of D S Pope, Woodlawn avenue, who served as principal at Rushville, O., high school along with coaching duties, has accepted the assistant coaching post at Martin's Ferry high school An offer of a contract as head coach at Euclid high in Cleveland was rejected by Pope in favor of the Martin's Ferry job.

Ted Lyons Okayed for Army

Ted Lyons, the veteran pitcher of the Chicago White Sox, is shown being given his physical examination by Dr. S. A. Blumenthal in Chicago. Lyons passed the test okay. Results of the examination will be forwarded to the pitcher's Vinton, La., draft board.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

NEW YORK—(Wide World)—Second thoughts: Wonder why Mike Jacobs hit on 77,000 as the likely attendance for the Louis-Conn scrap? . . . He once packed 88,150, the third largest crowd in boxing history, into the Yankee stadium to see Louis wreck Max Baer. . . . Looks like a good spot too, to borrow an idea from the Chicago All-Star football game and save a few choice seats for people willing to contribute $100 to a good cause, but we hear the army voted that one down . . . And why not make it an all-service affair with Lieut Jack Dempsey of the coast guard as referee and Lieut Commander Gene Tunney of the navy as announcer? . . . If Conn really wants to win, why doesn't he hire father-in-law Jimmy Smith as sparring partner —for Louis?

TURNOVER.

White Deer high school in Texas has had six football coaches in six months—and we'll let that stand as a record until we hear of a better one. . . . Gene McCollum, last season's coach, resigned to take a new job. . . . Two of his successors, Gail Smith and Charles Churchill, went into the army, and Thurmon (Tugboat) Jones, who had decided to quit pro football, took over. . . . But the grid Dodgers made Tugboat an offer that was too good to refuse so he moved on and left the job to his assistant, Tyson Cox. . . . W. C. Whiteside, Cox' new aide, is the sixth newcomer.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR.

Art Edson, Oklahoma City Oklahoman: "Every time one looks around one sees another 'all-star' football squad busy drilling. A little more of this and it will be easier for a gridman to make an all-star squad than his college letter."

* * *

In the excitement over Louis-Conn, has anyone remembered that Freddie Cochrane, specialist first class in the navy, will fight Fritzie Zivic, specialist first class in ring warfare, for the USO tonight?

Canton Trounces Charleston Team

DAYTON —(AP)— Dayton edged Erie 2 to 1 in the first game of a Mid-Atlantic league Shaughnessy playoff last night while Canton trounced Charleston, 1942 pennant winner, 8 to 1, in the West Virginia city.

Three games of the three-out-of-five semi-finals will be played at Charleston and three at Dayton, then the teams move to Erie and Canton, if additional games are necessary.

Division winners will meet in a four-out-of-seven game series for the Shaughnessy championship cup.

GETS TACKLE POST

EVANSTON, Ill —(INS)— Warren Karlstad, a 225-pound senior and the heaviest man on the Northwestern team, appeared destined today to fill the left tackle post left vacant by Alf Bauman, last year's outstanding Wildcat lineman.

Rookies Fail To Aid Tribe

Hank Edwards Gets Two Hits, Including Double.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians still are waiting to see what their new crop of rookies can do.

Four hopefuls just brought up from Baltimore of the International league got their baptism in the big-time last night but their efforts failed to keep the lowly Philadelphia Athletics from taking a 5 to 4 victory in a 13-inning battle.

* * *

One of the newcomers—Ted Szczepkowski—even contributed to the defeat. He muffed a ball in the second inning, allowing the A's to score three runs when they might otherwise have had only one. After that he gave a better account of himself, and made one of the Tribe's seven hits.

Hank Edwards got two hits, one of them a double, and batted in two Cleveland runs. The other new players who saw action were Ed Robinson, sent in as a pinch hitter, and Bob Lemon, who went in as a pinch runner.

The contest—Cleveland's last under the lights this season—started out as a pitching duel between Red Embree and Bob Harris, but both teured after eight innings with the score knotted at 4-all. Joe Heving walked the first two batters to face him then gave way to Vernon Kennedy who yielded one blow in five innings but was charged with the loss.

* * *

Phil Marchildon, finishing for the A's, got credit for his 17th victory as he held the Tribe hitless for five stanzas.

* * *

Elmer Valo's walk, a single by Bob Johnson and Dick Siebert's fly pushed across the A's winning run in the fourth extra inning.

Idle today, the Indians open a two-game series with Boston here tomorrow.

MINOR CHANGES FAIL TO SHOW MARKET TRENDS

Recovery Signs Are Few But Indications of Weakness Also Prove Rarity.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Recovery signs were few and far between in today's stock market proceedings although weakness was a rarity.

Off fractionally were General Motors, American Telephone, Santa Fe, Johns-Manville, Bendix, Westinghouse, Norfolk & Western, General Electric and United Aircraft. U. S. Steel and Bethlehem were unchanged. Anaconda and Goodyear were up small amounts.

Followers of the utilities noted the summary of the Edison Electric institute estimating power production in the week ended Sept. 5 a shade under the year's record high mark established in the week of Aug. 22. The compilation was a day late owing to the Labor day holiday.

Attention was given the survey of the American Iron & Steel institute placing August output of ingots and castings at 7,233,451 net tons compared with 7,148,824 in July and 6,997,496 in August last year. It was a record for August but slightly below the March peak.

REGISTRATION OF ALIENS HIT

Counselor Challenges Authority of Postmasters.

CINCINNATI — (U.P.) — U. S. Commissioner Paul Geoghegan today took under advisement charges that registration of more than 5,000,000 enemy aliens by postmasters under the enemy alien registration act of 1940 was illegal.

Charles Grissom, immigration counselor of Cleveland, yesterday attacked the legality of the act during a hearing before Geoghegan. Grissom appeared in behlaf of Joe Menella, Hamilton construction foreman.

Grissom contended that postmasters who registered unnaturalized foreign-born persons had no authority to do so because, although the 1940 registration act provided for appointment of a commissioner of immigration, no appointment had been made.

INDUSTRY HUMS IN ROCKIES AS TOURISTS DROP

Western States Are Cluttered With Army Bases and War Plants.

(By United Press)

DENVER—It's mid-summer in the Rockies, time for vacationists to come streaming into cool mountain resorts, but the war not only has cut down severely on the visitors this year but it also is beginning to change the mountain area into a center of industrial and military activity.

Tourist travel has fallen off immensely following the rubber and gasoline shortages and the request of federal officials that air and train travel be eliminated as much as possible.

The famous Carlsbad Caverns in New Mexico report a drop of 75 per cent in the number of visitors this year; Yellowstone Parks has had only 40 per cent of the normal number of tourists and Dr. L. C. Hunt, Wyoming's secretary of state, says only one-half as many visitors are entering the state this year.

But, if tourist trade has fallen off, industrialization has reached a record peak in the region.

Denver, once the capital of the vacation region, has taken on new metropolitan atmosphere and is humming with business. Four army bases—housing more than 40,000 soldiers — two munitions plants, construction of a bomber plant and an arsenal combined with hundreds of government workers in regional federal offices have swelled the city's population.

Apartments and hotel rooms are scarce, street cars are jammed, restaurants turn away customers.

The situation is duplicated in smaller Colorado Springs and Pueblo where military and war industry activities have started boom conditions with high school boys obtaining jobs as common laborers at $53 a week.

Even in the lofty heart of the Rockies at Tennessee Pass, the war has had its effect. The road over the pass is barred to civilians because of the fast-growing camp for the training of army troops in skiing and other winter maneuvers at Pando, Colo.

Mines of the area are going full blast with the vanadium mines on the western slope of Colorado's mountains and the huge molybdenum mine at Climax, Colo., turning out new production records daily. The molybdenum operators carry a daily advertisement in Colorado papers asking for workers.

In New Mexico, the China copper mines have reached their greatest output since the last war. Wyoming ranges are taxed to raise enough cattle to meet the nation's food demands.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Attorney General Biddle announced today indictment of E. I. DuPont De Nemours and company of Wilmington, Del., and Rohm and Haas company of Philadelphia and eight of their officials on charges of controlling the manufacture and sale of plastics widely used in war production.

PASSAGE DUE

Senate Expected to Approve Soldier's Vote Bill.

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The senate today is expected to act on the conference report on the soldiers absentee voting bill—extending voting privileges to 4,000,000 men and women in the U. S. armed forces—and the measure may be sent to the White House before nightfall.

Overriding the issue of states rights and poll taxes, the house yesterday approved the conference report by an overwhelming vote of 247 to 53.

Included in the terms of the bill are members of the Army Nurse corps, the Naval Nurse corps, the Women's Navy Reserve and the WAACS.

The measure provides that if an individual desires to vote, he must make application to the secretary of state in the state of legal residence. Special ballots will be provided and commissioned officers will be empowered to administer the oath of qualification required with each ballot.

Kaiser Seeks O. K. From Nelson on Cargo Plane Plan

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Flanked by two engineers he said knew all the answers, Henry J. Kaiser sought a "yes" from Donald M. Nelson today to his proposal to build giant cargo planes for carrying troops and supplies to the far-flung battlefronts.

The west coast shipbuilder talked with the chairman of the War Production Board for an hour and a half late yesterday, but his engineers failed to arrive in time, necessitating another conference today.

Talking with reporters in his hotel after he had seen Nelson, Kaiser said he felt confident materials could be found to carry out his proposal; that adequate labor could be trained to do the work; that plane-building would not cut down his consumption of emergency cargo ships.

SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—Henry J. Kaiser's plan for constructing huge cargo planes is impractical, Captain Eddie Rickenbacker believes, but he suggests the master west coast shipbuilder be made co-ordinator of air cargo production because of his ability to put materials and men to work.

Cargo planes of the type suggested by Kaiser, the famed flyer said, are impractical from the outset because such a plane would require land-locked harbors and lakes from which to operate.

Fingerprints found on the fender where the wheel was removed were photographed by Clare W. Kyler, assistant police identification officer.

FORMER OHIOAN CITED AS HERO

Wounded Physician Gets Patients Off Bombed Lexington.

ANNAPOLIS, Md. —(AP)— The navy cited for heroism Commander Arthur J. White, a former Ohioan, who refused to abandon the aircraft carrier Lexington although both ankles and a shoulder were fractured by blasts which doomed the ship in the Coral sea battle.

White, a former resident of West Leipsic, Putnam county, O., was awarded the naval cross yesterday at the U. S. naval academy, where he now is stationed.

The middle-aged physician, wounded in the first of two explosions which hastened the ship's end, twice moved his patients from shattered dressing stations and refused to heed entreaties to quit his post until all patients had been removed to a rescue ship.

STILL STEEPER TAXES STUDIED

Persons Earning $2,000 To $4,000 Would Pay 25 Per Cent.

first dollar of taxable net income would be assessed 6 per cent normal and 13 per cent surtax, a total of 19. This rate would not increase until the income reached the $2,000 to $4,000 bracket, where the normal rate would be 9 per cent and the surtax 16 per cent, a total of 25.

Some committee members said it was possible that revisions might be made to graduate surtaxes upward in brackets of $500 instead of $2,000 at a jump.

The committee's approval of the 5 per cent "victory" levy brought 14,000,000 additional persons into the field of potential federal taxation and boosted the anticipated yield from individuals to $10,462,000,000 in a full year's operations.

The 43,000,000 persons who would pay taxes under the measure would provide about $1,000,000,000 more toward government financing than all corporations, which would pay $9,413,000,000 under tentatively approved ra[illegible]

The senate committee thus has reversed the house position and made individuals, rather than business, the principal taxpayers. As the bill was approved by the house, individuals would have been assessed $7,917,000,000 yearly and corporations $10,287,000,000.

The committee also scheduled consideration today of excise taxes, which make up a large share of the additional revenue to be brought in by the new bill.
